WAR BLOC TRIES TO PUT U. S. IN BRITISH EMPIRE

Easterners Act for 'Union Now.'

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 16.—A ballyhoo campaign to attract Uncle Sam into the parlor of the British commonwealth of nations is starting to gain headway in war minded New York City. Many of its sponsors are also pushing for American participation in the European war.

William Jay Schieffelin [top] and Clarence K. Streit.

Rallying standard for the new movement to reverse the decision of the American revolution is the so-called "Union Now" scheme which would set up a supergovernment over all the English speaking countries of the world, the United States included. Many of the former drum beaters for the league of nations are out for it.

A Proponent Explains.

William Jay Schieffelin, chairman of the New York chapter of Federal Union, Inc., [the incorporated name of the "Union Now" movement], was asked tonight what would become of the king of England under the plan. He replied that the king would remain in office and so would the President of the United States. An international legislature would be superimposed over all the governments of the countries joining the federation, according to Schieffelin. He said the heads of the various governments would have the status of the governor of a state.

However, there is no record of Schieffelin having commented upon the fact that while the constitution of the United States provides for the admission of new states into the union, section 4 of article 4 of the constitution guarantees to every state a republican form of government.

No Nobility Allowed.

Neither have any of the proponents considered for publication the fact that article 1 of the constitution prohibits the United States or any state from granting titles of nobility. Under these two articles, there would be nothing to prohibit Great Britain from becoming the 49th state of the union, but to do so it would be required to give up its monarchial form of government and to abolish its hereditary system of aristocracy.

"Union Now" is a plan first set forth in a weighty tome by one Clarence K. Streit, who was bitten by the bug when he attended the deliberations of the league of nations at Geneva as a foreign correspondent.

Little Prewar Influence.

Before the war Streit's proposal slumbered within the pages of his book or popped up in academic discussions whenever Anglophiles got together. The hands across the sea spirit was being mildly promoted in an afternoon tea and crumpets atmosphere by the ladies of the English Speaking Union. The war came along and gave the idea a mighty fillip.

When Streit's plan was incorporated recently as Federal Union, Inc., a New York office opened for business and funds began to pour in. Publicity blurbs are being turned out for the newspapers. Full page advertisements have been carried in some newspapers. Proponents are crying for "Union Now" over the radio and in the debating forums.

Female Writers Active.

Among the leading votaries of the plan are the two militant female writers, Dorothy Thompson, the columnist, and Clare Booth, the playwright.

Miss Booth, who in private life is the wife of Henry Luce, magazine publisher, asserted in a coast to coast radio broadcast yesterday that America already is in the war as partner of Great Britain.

"All citizens must face this fact however much it pains them," she declared. "Our country is already in this war, as the silent partner—and not so silent, at that—of Great Britain. Our government is already morally, spiritually, and materially com

32% of Draft Enrollees Fail in Health Tests

Thirty-two per cent of the registrants examined by draft board physicians are rejected because of physical or mental deficiencies, and 12 per cent of those who pass are rejected later by army doctors at induction centers.

These figures were made public yesterday by Col. Leonard G. Rowntree of Washington, D. C., chief of the medical division of the selective service system. He spoke in the Palmer House before the 15th annual session of the National Conference on Medical Service.

He said defective teeth is the major cause of rejections, it being the cause in 17 per cent at draft boards and 22 per cent at induction centers.

Other Causes Described.

He listed other principal causes as heart ailments, 13 per cent by draft boards and 7 per cent by army doctors; muscular defects, 10 per cent draft boards and 4 per cent army; defects in sight, 9 per cent draft and 13 per cent army; mental and nervous disorders, 6 per cent draft and 10 per cent army; defective feet, 4 per cent draft and 6 per cent army, and defective lungs, 3 per cent draft and 4 per cent army.

Col. Rowntree said the percentage of rejections is slightly higher than that during the world war and probably results from more stringent requirements of the present day. He said rejections fall into two general classes—12 per cent being fit for limited military service but unfit for general army duty and 20 per cent being unfit for any military service.

Need for Uniformity Told.

"It is evident still greater effort must be made to bring about the use of common methods of diagnosis and greater uniformity of interpretation," he said. "There is a special need for help in matters pertaining to the examination of teeth. The services of a dentist are expected to be made available soon for every local board."

Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois director of selective service, criticized local board physicians who "out of mistaken kindness" allow men with mental or physical defects to pass the examinations. "The effect on army morale of a misfit is extremely dangerous," he said, "and the effect on the man himself if he is denied entrance by army physicians after having passed the local board examination is extremely unfortunate."

Officers of the conference were elected at a luncheon session. They are Dr. Harold M. Camp, Monmouth, president, and Dr. J. M. McCarthy, Omaha, Neb., secretary.

A SCANTILY DRAPED BLONDE'S AT LARGE DOWN PARADISE WAY

Las Vegas, Nev., Feb. 16 (AP).—A scantily clad blonde running about Paradise valley provided this town with a mystery today.

Constable Jack Larry heard about the desert nymph from two sources. A party of tourists reported her last week. Then yesterday James F. Dodd came back from a rabbit hunting trip with this account:

A comely blonde, draped only in a flour sack, appeared suddenly at his side, almost within arm's reach of him.

Startled, the hunter exclaimed: "What's going on!"

The scantily clad one dashed away, paused to call back: "Let me live my own life," and fled into the mesquite.

The blonde was described as in her twenties.

Paradise valley is warm in the daytime but chilly at night.

Constable Larry, who didn't take much stock in the first report, said today he was going to have a look down Paradise valley way.

LONDON GROUPS FLAY LACK OF CIVIL LIBERTY IN BRITISH COLONIES

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Following a plea on behalf of persons arrested in India for political reasons, the National Council for Civil Liberties today adopted a resolution viewing "with grave concern the grievous lack of civil liberties in the territories under the colonial administration."

The resolution stated that the situation regarding civil liberty in the colonial empire formed a great challenge and a serious responsibility for the British people.

Delegates to the convention represented labor unions, religious denominations, and political parties. They heard discussions on the liberty of individuals and labor groups, freedom of expression, and civil liberty in wartime, with special reference to the West Indies, west Africa, east Africa, Malaya, Ceylon, Cyprus, and western Samoa.

Fifth of City's Firemen Fight Two Big Blazes

Four hundred and seventy-five firemen in 95 motor vehicles put out two big fires last night in a spectacular exhibition of fire fighting. Thirteen chiefs, headed by Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan and Chief Deputy Marshal Anthony J. Mullaney, commanded the force, which comprised almost a fifth of the city's fire fighters.

The first alarm, at 4:42 p. m., sent trucks roaring from many points to the four story building of Good Housekeeping Shops, Inc., at 3255-59 Milwaukee avenue. There a fire in the corporation's furniture and household appliance store was extinguished after causing a loss which Commissioner Corrigan estimated at $50,000.

Second Fire Loss $10,000.

The second alarm, at 8:11 p. m., sent many more trucks to 401 North Paulina street. There a fire principally confined to the Standard Fruit company's quarters on the first floor caused damage estimated by Corrigan at $10,000.

While total men power at the two fires was 475, a number of the firemen helped subdue both blazes.

This is the fire department's summary of apparatus sent to the fires:

49 engines.
8 hook and ladder trucks.
6 squad cars.
5 high pressure trucks.
3 floodlight trucks.
3 water tower trucks.
7 fire insurance patrol trucks.
1 ambulance.
13 chiefs' cars.

Thirty-eight other fire companies had to move up to stations left vacant by companies at the fires.

Large Crowds See Spectacles.

Large crowds gathered at both fires, and they saw spectacular shows. Two of the great water towers were used to pump water into the upper floors of the four story Good Housekeeping building, formerly the Roman Furniture Mart. At both blazes, the firemen turned off the electricity in the neighborhoods, lest they be injured by falling lines, and worked in the glare of light from great floodlight trucks.

The first fire paralyzed motor and street car traffic on Milwaukee and Belmont avenues and Pulaski road.

EUROPE ON EDGE OF STARVATION, HOOVER WARNS

Describes Test Plan to Feed Belgians.

"Hunger in the present war is coming faster and with more violence than ever in the last war. After a year and a half of the present war, nearly 100 million more people are short of food than after three years of the last war. Rationing is the infallible proof of short food supplies. Today nearly 300 million people already are on rations. And the rations in all these masses of humanity except in Germany and Britain are more drastic than at the end of the third year of the last war."

These statements were made last night by former President Herbert Hoover, speaking at a rally in the Auditorium theater in behalf of the Committee on Food for the Small Democracies. Approximately 2,000 attended the rally.

Food Plan Submitted.

Hoover said a plan to feed the Belgian people as an experimental move in the campaign to fight impending famine is under consideration by the British and German governments. He said the proposal was submitted to the belligerents several weeks ago on behalf of the committee, which seeks to arouse public sentiment in behalf of some plan whereby food can be shipped thru the British blockade to Nazi occupied territory.

Hoover described the proposal in detail and asserted: "This is no discussion of temporary empty stomachs. It is extinction for millions unless something is done for them."

Describes Proposed Program.

He said the program proposed to the belligerents provides:

1. That all feeding be done thru soup kitchens, so there will be no question of feeding the Germans.
2. That at the start one million adults and two million children be cared for with 50,000 tons of food a month.
3. That the German government agree not to requisition native food.
4. That both England and Germany give free passage to relief ships.
5. That some neutral body supervise the program.

Program Would Be Extended.

Hoover said the program could be extended to the other overrun democracies if the experiment in Belgium proves successful.

He said a commission of three Americans, sent to investigate the Belgium food situation, reported the entire nation would be practically without food in a month unless aid were forthcoming.

"The commission reported that the stock of breadstuffs would be exhausted," he said, "and that the people in desperation had already eaten two-thirds of all the hogs and were eating into the dairy herds. A similar situation will prevail soon in Norway, central Poland, and Free France, and Finland also is in need."

Stand of Nations Told.

Hoover said the philosophies of the starving nations are opposed to totalitarianism and that unless the democracies help them ward off famine there will be little encouragement for them to hold fast to the democratic ideals of life. "I believe we should give to Britain generously, including food," he said. "But if that aid is to be given to preserve free nations, have we not a right to suggest that these other free peoples—friends of America all of our national life—be allowed also to live?"

Hoover read telegrams from Gen. John J. Pershing and Admiral William V. Pratt supporting his program. Chauncey McCormick, midwest chairman of the Hoover committee, who presided, pointed out that after the 1871 fire Chicago received more than 10 million dollars contributed by humanitarians of every nation.

ENGLAND FIRM ON BLOCKADE.

LONDON, Feb. 17, Monday (AP).—Herbert Hoover's plan to feed the people of German occupied countries has failed to persuade the British government to relax its blockade in Europe, an authoritative source said today.

The informant said reports from occupied countries show that the Germans are looting fields, granaries, and shops and leaving the people in many areas in a wretched altho not starving condition. The British authorities thus remain firm in their view that food from outside would only postpone British victory, it was asserted.

Britain Takes Precaution to Bar Jap Drive

LONDON, Feb. 16 (AP).—Apparently suspicious of a Japanese thrust in the far east, Britain announced today she had mined the sea approaches to Singapore, her great oriental naval bastion.

A brief government notice to mariners gave no explanation for the mine field at the tip of the Malayan peninsula and officials also were silent. The announcement said:

"The British government gives notice that the following area is dangerous to navigation—all the area bounded:

"On the north by a parallel of 2 degrees 44 north; on the east by a meridian of 104 degrees 30 east; on the south by a parallel of 1 degree 35 north; on the west by the coast of Malaya.

"Mines will be laid in the above area without further notice. Vessels wishing to pass thru the area must apply to British naval authorities at Singapore for the route. Any vessel disregarding these instructions will do so at its own risk and peril."

Tops Week of Anxiety.

The announcement came on top of a week of anxiety in Britain's dominions across the Pacific, and the Sunday Times today warned axis-allied Japan that if she took any aggressive step she would find herself cut out of postwar foreign trade she needs to support herself.

Japan, the newspaper declared, "could not expect that we could trade on the same terms tomorrow with a country which tried to stab us in the back today."

Perhaps significantly, the Times editorial foreshadowed the mining announcement with this recollection of the Russo-Japanese war of 1904-'05:

"She [Japan] gained an immense advantage at the outset of her historic conflict with Russia by entering Vladivostok harbor without a declaration of war and torpedoing at anchor the fleet of her unsuspecting enemy. She has not forgotten that stroke. Nor shall we forget it."

FEAR OF SOUTHWARD DRIVE.

Within the past week, tension has increased sharply over the possibility of an imminent southward drive by Japan. She is reported to have strengthened her land, sea, and air forces in French Indo-China. As a partner in the axis tri-power treaty, it is presumed she would time any offensive of her own in Asia with whatever drive the axis might launch in Europe.

The British empire, therefore, has been on guard against both the possibility of an actual Japanese campaign or a mere smoke screen to divert British attention from any European plans of the axis.

Cautions Japanese Minister.

Preceding the mine sowing, Britain had stationed troops, naval and air forces at Malaya frontier with Thailand [Siam] and these coinciding developments also indicated the increasing strain on relations with Japan:

1. British Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie was reported in Tokio yesterday to have cautioned Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka against any menacing maneuvers toward British possessions in the far east. The press now has adopted a milder treatment of news and the "war of nerves" eased somewhat in Japan.
2. Foreign military observers in Shanghai declared Japan had set up the nucleus of a military air base at Saigon, French Indo-China, and called that potentially one of Japan's most important recent acts in the far east.

New Commander at Saigon.

3. Col. Ryoji Koike, chief of staff of Japanese forces in Indo-China and reputedly a strong supporter of Japan's demands on that French colony, arrived at Saigon to take over the Japanese command in the south.
4. British authorities in the far east reminded their subjects today that advice given last October to Britons in Japanese occupied China—that they consider leaving—still stands.

NEW CONSOLIDATED BOMBER FOR BRITAIN REACHES NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 16 (AP).—Averaging 270 miles an hour without being "pushed," the first of 26 new four motored bombers being built for Great Britain by Consolidated Aircraft corporation landed today at La Guardia field after a nonstop flight from San Diego, Cal.

It was reported that the camouflaged ship, bearing the R. A. F. insignia, would leave within 48 hours for a direct flight to England, which if made would be the first of its kind from New York by a bomber.

FEAR PRESIDENT WILL SEND NAVY AGAINST JAPAN

Eye Secret Parley Held in Capital.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16.—The possibility that the American battle fleet soon will appear in the orient to checkmate new Japanese projects of aggression overshadows the consideration of world war questions in Washington tonight.

Senator George.

All the evidence available indicates that President Roosevelt intends to order the fleet to the far east if Japan attacks the British stronghold at Singapore or attempts to occupy the Dutch East Indies. The probable result of such a move would be war with Japan.

Dictator Bill Battle.

With this new world war crisis developing, the administration leaders and opposition senators were girding tonight for the battle which will open in the senate tomorrow on the war dictatorship bill providing for all-out aid to Great Britain, Greece, and China in their war with Germany, Italy, and Japan. Passage of the bill within the next fortnight with only 25 or 30 of the 96 senators voting against it is the prospect.

The debate will be opened tomorrow by Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.], chairman of the foreign relations committee, and Senator Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], majority leader of the senate, speaking in favor of the measure. On Tuesday Senator Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.] will lead off for the opposition, representing the Democrats against the bill, to be followed by Senator Arthur H. Vanderberg [R., Mich.] performing a similar service for Republicans.

Big Developments Expected.

That developments of great consequence are imminent in the Pacific region is the universal conviction in official Washington. This impression was deepened by the hurriedly called conference of Pacific ocean powers at the state department yesterday. Participating were Secretary of State Cordell Hull; the new British ambassador, Lord Halifax; the Rt. Hon. Richard G. Casey, minister of Australia, and Dr. A. Loudon, minister of the Netherlands.

Those who took part in the conference were tight lipped concerning the discussion, but such details as have leaked out indicate the view shared by all that Japan is embarked upon a course of aggression from which she is probably not to be deterred by anything save the fear of the United States navy.

Fleet Ready to Sail.

The most powerful navy in the world, based at present chiefly in the Hawaiian Islands, is ready to steam at a moment's notice to deal with any crisis in the Orient. The President regards the battle fleet as in the pink of condition. For a year or more he has been speeding the completion of fighting ships and the concentration of supply ships, fuel, and other supplies in the Hawaiian Islands for expeditionary purposes.

If the President dispatches the fleet to the western Pacific it will be ostensibly for the purpose of protecting the Philippine Islands, which would be encircled by the Japanese if Japan were to occupy Singapore and the Dutch East Indies. He would act under the clause of the constitution which makes the President the commander in chief of the army and navy. During the house debate on the dictator bill the administration leaders stressed the point that the President possesses authority to send the navy anywhere he pleases. He can employ the navy to coerce a nation without a declaration of war by congress and with consequences that may bring about a state of war.

Anti-Japanese Activities.

Mr. Roosevelt has steadfastly protested to Japan and employed the resources of the United States against Japanese aggressions in China and French Indo-China and suspected designs on the Dutch East Indies. He abrogated the commercial treaty with Japan, made war loans to China, and in his annual message to congress pointedly reminded Japan that the American fleet is in the Pacific. Recently at a press conference he said that if the United States should become involved in war in the Pacific that fact would not interfere with America furnishing all-out aid to Great Britain in Europe. The inference was that the President was ready to carry on war against Japan and Germany at the same time.

Japan is moving land and sea forces to southern Indo-China and maneuvering for a foothold in Thailand, from both of which points it is an airplane flight of only a few hundred miles to Singapore. It is assumed that Japan will attempt to take Singapore before attacking the Dutch islands, for with Singapore still in British possession the Japanese would be unable to maintain occupation of the Dutch territory.

It's a Fortress, Too.

Singapore is not only a great naval base but also a land fortress. There are relatively few British warships based there at present but there are strong Australian air forces on the island. British troops on the island number 45,000, with 65,000 more on the Malay peninsula. The harbors and all approaches are mined and the coast artillery equipment is formidable. It probably would take the Japanese several months to capture Singapore, if at all.

Japan is proceeding warily with one eye on the American navy which, observers say, merely by appearing in the western Pacific would be able to knock a Japanese expedition against Singapore into a cocked hat. The Japanese, it is declared, would not dare risk disruption of their communications by an American fleet, not to mention the raiding of the Japanese homeland.

It is 4,000 miles from Hawaii to Japan and 5,000 to the Philippines, which is not prepared to base our fleet adequately, but in the view of our naval strategists the American fleet, if it ever sails to the Orient, will not stop till it bases at Singapore.

Pressure from Hitler.

Hitler is putting great pressure on Japan to attack Singapore concurrently with his expected drive thru the Balkans and attempted invasion of England. The prize is tremendous, for if Japan were to take Singapore and the Dutch East Indies, she would gain control of the southwestern Pacific, cut off Australia and New Zealand, and destroy the support the British forces in Africa are receiving from this quarter.

These considerations indicate the importance that the action of the American fleet might assume in rendering all-out aid to Britain.

ROYAL FAMILY OF LUXEMBURG OFF TO CANADA

Charlotte, grand duchess of Luxemburg, left Chicago last night for Montreal, site of her provisional government in exile, after a two day visit among the 25,000 Chicagoans of Luxemburg extraction. Hundreds bade the royal family farewell at Dearborn station last night.

Accompanied by her husband, Prince Consort Felix; their son, Crown Prince John, heir apparent to the tiny duchy which the Nazis occupied on May 10, and five members of the Luxemburg cabinet, she attended a solemn high mass in St. Benedict's church yesterday morning.

An official reception in the Auditorium theater was the principal event of the day. The grand duchess spoke, as did Pierre Dupong, premier of the Luxemburg government, and John Marsch, Luxemburg consul general in Chicago. The program included music and a showing of the film, "There Is a Little Land," voted the best nature film of 1938 in Europe and dealing with the scenery, industry, and culture of Luxemburg.

Luxemburgers Ordered to Germanize Their Names

BERLIN, Feb. 16.—All citizens of the former duchy of Luxemburg, as well as all stateless persons residing there, must Germanize their first names by decree of the chief of civil administration, it was reported today. They are given the choice of either adopting the German equivalent of their present names or of choosing new German names. If their last names are of French origin or changed versions of the original German name, the original German must be adopted, the decree stipulated.

DIES OF MYSTERY INJURIES.

Peter Linde, 69 years old, a janitor, died yesterday in his home at 3236 Clark street of injuries suffered Jan. 30. He told relatives he remembered nothing after taking a nap on his job at 1916 Roscoe street until he awoke later in his own home minus $112 and with a head injury.

HEAR JAPS MASS 150,000 TROOPS FOR 'DRIVE SOUTH'

Stationed Near Singapore and Indo-China.

CHUNGKING, China, Feb. 16 (AP).—The Central News, an agency of the central Chinese government, claimed "authoritative information" today that six Japanese divisions now are stationed in Canton, Hainan Island, French Indo-China and the Spratly Islands, and four divisions in Formosa. [Using the customary 15,000 men for an infantry division as the basis of calculation, this Japanese force would number 150,000 men.]

The Central News said the forces were commanded directly by general headquarters in Tokio.

Such a disposition of troops would appear to be in preparedness for any eventuality in Japan's "southward drive" for a "greater East Asia" sphere of influence.

Islands in China Sea.

The Spratly Islands lie in the China sea about midway between North Borneo and the French Indo-China naval base at Cam Ranh bay. Observers have said the Japanese might use them as the base for a blockade to cut off British Singapore, 600 miles away, or for a move on Cam Ranh, or Saigon, metropolis of southern Indo-China.

Japan announced on March 31, 1939, that she had assumed jurisdiction over the Spratly Islands, 247 acres of coral reefs in the South China sea, which France had claimed in 1933. They are adaptable as bases for seaplanes, submarines, and small naval craft.

Hainan Island, one fruit of Japan's conquest in China, lies in the curve of the southern Asiatic coastline formed by the South China and the French Indo-China coast. Formosa, long a Japanese possession, lies off the East China coast, north of the Philippines.

Consider U. S. Assistance.

The Central Daily News of Chungking said that an essential part of American aid to Britain lies in "stabilizing the tenseness" in the Pacific and expressed the opinion that the United States still could check Japan thru long range naval embargoes without resorting to war.

Britain, this newspaper declared, cannot devote her full energies against her European foes so long as Singapore is threatened and therefore "American action in the Pacific will play an integral part in the European war."

The newspaper Takungpao said that French authorities in Indo-China were vainly protesting increases in Japanese troops in Tonking, or northern Indo-China where Japan won military concessions after the European defeat of France.

FRENCH EXPECT DARLAN TO SEE LAVAL IN PARIS

VICHY, France, Feb. 16 (AP).—Political circles said tonight they expected Admiral Jean Darlan, vice premier, to go to Paris shortly to interview his predecessor, Pierre Laval. They added that they believe he will offer Laval the vice presidency of the council of ministers. In such event it was believed Darlan would take the presidency.

[A drastically censored Associated Press dispatch from Vichy said it was believed there that Chief of State Henri Philippe Petain might step aside if Darlan and Laval closed the deal projected by political circles.]

Lucien Chasseigne, French delegate to the armistice commission at wiesbaden, has left Vichy for Paris for what is believed to be an attempt to bring together Chief of State Petain's national propaganda committee and the "Popular National Propaganda committee" formed in Paris recently with backing by Laval and Germany.

PLANE ABLAZE DIVES INTO SEA.

Hamilton Field, Cal., Feb. 16 (AP).—An army pursuit plane flying in a formation of 14 caught fire today but the pilot, Lieut. Fred E. Miles, "pancaked" the ship down in the ocean and escaped injury. Fishermen picked him up and took him ashore.

HOW SEA RAIDER RAIDS: SUDDENLY, ALL GUNS FIRING

Nine Convoyed Ships Sent to Bottom.

BY MANUEL LYRA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 16.—Survivors of British ships sunk by a Nazi sea raider off Funchal, Madeira, said on their arrival here today that the raider surged suddenly upon the convoy, firing in all directions, as the guns of the merchantmen replied.

The convoy, they said, was composed of 18 ships. The raider sank nine of the vessels, three of which were Greek. Because of the great panic among members of the ships' crews, many of the men were missed by rescue vessels, the survivors related.

The raider escaped when the British vessels maneuvered to encircle her, the men said. Six of the British ships fled safely to Funchal, and three others were believed to have escaped to the Azores.

[The Germans said 14 ships were sunk in the attack at dawn last Wednesday.]

82 Lose Lives on Cruiser.

LONDON, Feb. 16 (AP).—The admiralty announced today that 82 officers and men lost their lives in the sinking of the 9,100 ton cruiser Southampton, which the British said had to be sent to the bottom of the Mediterranean after a Nazi dive bomber attack Jan. 10. Eleven others were wounded. The vessel's normal complement was about 700. In her last engagement, the British said, the Italians lost a destroyer and the Germans at least a dozen dive bombers.

43,000 Tons Sunk, Nazis Say.

BERLIN, Feb. 16 (AP).—Sinking of 43,000 tons of British shipping in submarine, warship, and plane attacks, and the damaging of three additional merchant vessels and a light cruiser were claimed today by the Germans.

One submarine alone reported it had sunk three "enemy armed merchant ships" of a total tonnage of 19,000, while "a warship overseas" which previously had reported sinking 110,000 tons of merchant vessels "has sunk an additional 10,000 tons."

Today, DNB, German news agency, reported a 6,000 merchant ship sunk by bombers along the British North sea coast. Ships at Great Yarmouth also were heavily attacked, DNB said.

NAZIS TO STRIKE NEXT AT ENGLAND, RUMANIA IS TOLD Assured Germans Plan No Balkans Blow.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Feb. 16 (AP).—Dispatches from Berlin predicted today that the winter military lull will end soon and the Nazis will attack England "like a bolt of lightning." This corner of Europe, it was added, will not be involved unless Britain makes the first move.

Newspapers warned that with the departure of Britain's diplomatic mission from Rumania "air attack can now come at any minute."

[Britain has broken diplomatic relations with Rumania.]

Jugo-Slav Future "Secure."

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Feb. 16 (AP).—Premier Dragisha Tsvetkovitch's conference with Adolf Hitler in Germany has "secured the future of Jugo-Slavia," the minister without portfolio, Kulovec, stated tonight. In the first official speech mentioning the trip, he said:

"The Jugo-Slav government had done everything necessary to maintain peace and will continue to do so. We must bring sacrifices but these sacrifices all are made on the altar of peace, for which we are longing ardently."

Land Offer to Serbs Hinted.

LONDON, Feb. 17, Monday (AP).—Well informed circles in Belgrade believe Adolf Hitler offered territorial concessions to Jugo-Slavia in return for her "disinterest in the fate of Greece" and the cession to Hungary and Bulgaria of districts taken from those countries after the world war, the British news agency Reuters reported today.

The agency said the concessions to Jugo-Slavia were believed to be:

The Drin river valley of northern Albania, including the town of Scutari.

An outlet to the Aegean sea at Salonika, Greece, by means of a corridor thru Greece.

Territory around Lake Ochrida, Albania.

BRITISH HINT AT METHOD TO SPOT NIGHT BOMBERS

Tell How Raider Was Shot from Sky.

LONDON, Feb. 16 (AP).—The British hinted tonight their fighter pilots are using a new and successful method of fighting German night raiders and reported terrific bomb attacks on the industrial western Ruhr and the German held ports of Rotterdam, Calais, and Boulogne.

The air ministry news service told how a fighter pilot spotted a German Heinkel 111 off the English coast, trailed it for 10 minutes apparently without attracting attention, and then shot the invader out of the skies. The news service's comment was the first in which the raider was reported "spotted" and then pursued by a fighter until brought down.

The air ministry shed little light on the hours long bomb assaults last night and early today on the "invasion coast," which reports indicated were the heaviest on that particular sector since the Germans reached the English channel.

Attack on Docks.

The ministry's communique merely said aircraft of the bomber command "carried out successful and sustained routine attacks on docks at Boulogne" and the coastal command raided docks at Calais.

In the Boulogne attack, the ministry said, many large fires were started and at Rotterdam bombs were seen to burst in the docks area. Oil installations, airdromes, and an unnamed inland port were among the targets reported bombed in the western Ruhr action.

The British acknowledged five planes were missing from these offensive operations.

German raiders tonight were reported over the northeast coast and east Anglia. Some houses were reported hit in one northeast coast town.

German long range guns shelled the English coast for two hours before dawn, but no casualties or damage were reported.

Damage Thames Docks.

BERLIN, Feb. 16 (AP).—German planes in night attacks on Great Britain caused "extensive damage to dock facilities on the Thames and in the harbor district of a town on the west coast," the high command communique said today.

In Saturday night attacks by the British, the communique said, "a small number of explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped in western Germany with "some" casualties among the civil population.

Four British planes were shot down by Nazi pursuers and antiaircraft fire accounted for another, the communique said. One German plane was reported missing.

DNB, German news agency, said Nazi bombers today had attacked docks, wharfs, and a number of harbors on the east coast of England. Last night, DNB said, 11 British airports were raided, and a munitions dump at Cambridge set afire.

BRITAIN'S EFFORT TO GROW FOODS IS 'INADEQUATE'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Despite Britain's attempts to grow more food in 1940, experts estimated today that the harvest was, in calory values, only one and one-half per cent over that of 1939.

The increase in grain was about a million tons, a little more than one-tenth of the imports of animal feeding stuffs. After deducting what would have been produced if grass lands had not been plowed up, according to the Sunday Observer's agricultural correspondent, the net gain was 350,000 tons.

The 1940 effort in producing food was inadequate, he declared, saying the government had concentrated on plowing up 2 million acres of grassland without adequately planning new uses for it. Two million acres will be added to arable land this year, but this is insufficient, he added.

Great quantities of machinery and fertilizers will be required to achieve maximum production, the correspondent said.

BRITISH CAPTURE KEY POSITION IN ETHIOPIAN DRIVE

Hold 10,000 Square Miles of Somaliland.

CAIRO, Feb. 16 (AP).—British reoccupation of the strategic Ethiopian-Sudanese frontier post of Kurmuk, near the headwaters of the Nile about 200 miles west of Addis Ababa, was announced today by general headquarters.

British airmen and their comrades from South Africa continued their smashing aerial preparations for further land advances into Eritrea and Italian Somaliland. The British forces now claim 10,000 square miles of Italian Somaliland.

Unofficially it was reported that the Italians, abandoning Kurmuk, were being pursued into Ethiopia. They were said to be only a small force. Kurmuk, which lies in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, just across the Ethiopian border, was taken by the Italians last summer before the British started their East African campaign to drive the Fascists from the continent. Kurmuk was the last Italian post on Sudanese soil. Observers regarded it as another potential starting point in still another British drive eastward.

Mass Troops Around Keren.

In the drive into Eritrea, general headquarters said troops still were being concentrated around Keren, next town on the schedule which the British hope will include the port of Massaua and the capital city of Asmara.

South African headquarters, speaking of the British capture of Chisimaio, Indian ocean port of Italian Somaliland, said the whole of the southwestern part of that country up to the line of the Juba river is now overrun by its troops, an area of about 10,000 square miles.

"In this operation," it said, "units of the Royal navy are coöperating by bombardment of enemy concentrations on the coast."

British Repulsed, Rome Says.

ROME, Feb. 16 (AP). — British attacks at the tip of Eritrea in the Karora zone, near where the border of Italy's oldest colony meets the Red sea, and in the Keren area in central Eritrea have been "sharply repulsed" by Italian forces, the Italian high command reported today.

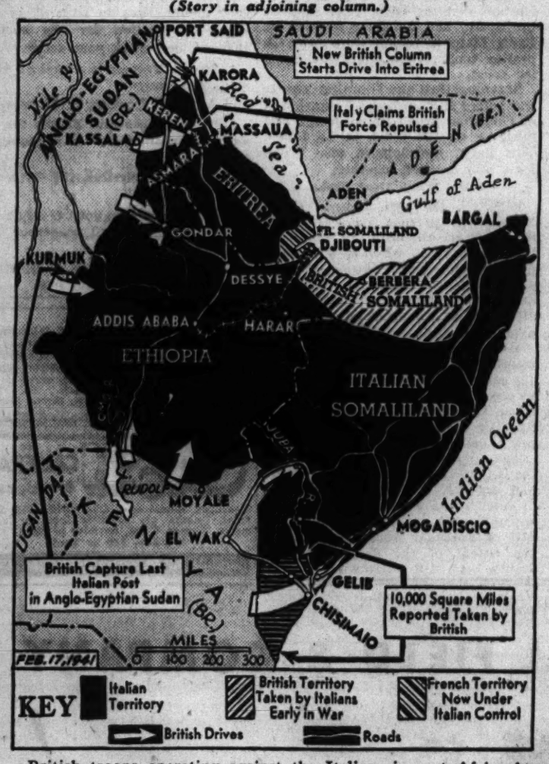
The communique also told of British raids on Catania and Siracusa [Syracuse] on Sicilly Island, and on Brindisi, on the heel of the Italian boot, Saturday night. It did not disclose results of the attack.

Nazis Attack in Libya.

BERLIN, Feb. 16 (AP).—The German high command said today that German dive bombers had attacked British bases in Cirenaica, Libya, and later, DNB, official German news agency, said three British planes were shot down over Malta today in a battle with German pursuit planes.

British Capture Another Key Position

(Story in adjoining column.)



British troops operating against the Italians in east Africa have captured the strategic post of Kurmuk, about 200 miles west of Addis Ababa. The British now claim about 10,000 square miles of Italian Somaliland.

GREEKS REPULSE ITALIANS; THEN HURL OWN BLOWS

1,200 Fascists Fight Battle; 200 Escape.

ATHENS, Feb. 16 (AP).—A battle in which only 200 of 1,200 Italian Black Shirts escaped was reported by a Greek government spokesman tonight.

Greek forces, the spokesman said, stopped Italian attacks and then launched their own offensives at two points on the Albanian front. The exact sectors were not identified.

"At the first point," he said, "the Greeks dislodged the enemy from a fortified position which was stubbornly defended. However, the Italians could not check the dash of our men and retired, leaving in our hands 150 prisoners, two officers, machine guns, and automatic rifles.

Occupy Strategic Positions.

"At the second point our attack developed on heights of over 1,500 meters [about 5,000 feet] and led to occupation of positions of great strategic importance.

In another Italian counterattack, with "a large number of men," the spokesman said, the Italians "were repulsed with heavy losses," and 160 men, 10 officers, and much material were captured.

He said the fighting in which the 1,200 Italians were described as almost wiped out also occurred in a battle for important heights.

Italians Reported in Retreat.

BITOLJ, Jugo-Slavia [at the Greek-Albanian Frontier], Feb. 16 (AP).—Reports reaching here today said the Greeks had captured 2,000 Italians and large quantities of war materials in an attack on the Fascist 11th army [probably at the northern end of the Albanian front]. A Greek attack, these reports said, has forced the Italians into a retreat on the tenth day of their attempted counteroffensive in Albania.

From Moschopolis to Tepeleni the Greeks made numerous attacks, supported by artillery, trench mortars, and the air force, and routed the Italians from several important positions, the dispatches said.

Greek reports said the Greeks were now advancing steadily on Tepeleni, beyond which lies the seaport of Valona, and north from Chimara along the sea coast.

In the Skumbi valley the Italians were reported holding firm against an attempted Greek advance on Elbasan. Air forces on both sides were active.

Bitter Fighting, Italy Reports.

ROME, Feb. 16 (AP). — The Italian high command today reported "bitter fighting" in the 11th army sector of Albania.

"Our air forces bombed troop concentrations and supplies," the communique added. Italian planes also were reported to have bombed an enemy air base on Crete, damaging some planes.

TRADE LEADER WARNS EGYPT TO AVOID WAR

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 16.—"I do not advocate the entry of Egypt into the war," said Mahmoud Mustafael Gammal Bey, Cairo Chamber of Commerce leader, in a statement published today. "People who try to fish in troubled waters are doing their country the worst possible harm in this connection."

He contrasted Egypt's attitude with that of America. America could probably successfully resist attack by the axis powers even if Great Britain were defeated, he said, but it has forgotten old grudges against the British and is concentrating on the task of eliminating Hitler from the world.

"If Egypt became a German or an Italian colony, there would be no question of our ever governing ourselves," he continued. "If we remained neutral and were not invaded, we would not be free to sell our cotton crop to European nations as the British control of the seas would prevent that. Economic conditions would be appalling. However, we are likely to have better consideration after the war if we give Britain ungrudging support today."

BRITAIN FIGHTS RACE OF PRICES, WAGE DEMANDS

Costs Rise Despite Pleas and Control Laws.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 16.—One of the main preoccupations of leaders of the total war effort in Britain has been to prevent wages and prices from chasing each other around in a vicious circle, but the problem still is far from being solved. This is despite efforts to control prices by subsidies and direct fixing of prices or attempts to limit the demand for goods thru patriotic appeals to workers to lend part of their salaries to the government or by other methods.

Prices have been mounting on all articles not now controled, with the result that workers are continuously demanding wage increases.

An example of the wage-price race was indicated by an announcement today that railway companies soon will be in a position to demand another increase in fares and freight rates under an agreement which entitles them to demand compensation for any increase in costs which reduce their income below an agreed level.

Boosted by Air Raids.

Figures from September to December show a heavy rise in cost because of air raids and the higher price of materials and demands of railway workers for increased wages.

A Reynolds News reporter made a trip to a dockside and observed foreign owned trawlers bringing in catches of fish. He said "one of these trawlers landed a catch, after 12 days of fishing, which sold for about $7,600, probably the biggest sum ever paid for a single boat's catch."

He quoted prices showing that cod, which before the war sold for about 20 cents a pound, now is selling at about 50 cents, and that hake had been raised from about 27 cents to about 60 cents.

Spend Money in Port.

Members of the trawler's crew, he said, who are paid a wage and commission on each catch, are earning as much as $320 a trip. "As these big sums of money cannot be taken out of the country because of war restrictions," he added, "many of the men are spending big sums in shops at the ports and taking their purchases back to their homes in Iceland."

Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, in introducing the next budget said commons possibly will yield to "pressure and enforce a ban on new wage increases." So far efforts to bring employers and trade unions into agreement on this point have failed. If the ban on wage increases is adopted it would mean a most drastic and much wider system of price control than now in force.

The Sunday Express wrote that a new order for industry is being considered which would provide for penalties on both employers and employé for late arrival at work or for being absent without a valid reason; that no worker be allowed to transfer to another job without special permission; that employers could not dismiss a worker except for grave misconduct, with penalties for unreasonable dismissals by employers.

Life Becomes Simpler.

Life already is becoming visibly simpler for every British citizen. A drastic restriction on the manufacture of household goods soon will be announced, THE TRIBUNE is informed. There already have been substantial reductions in these goods on the market but the new ban, it is expected, will practically denude shops of new furniture, household utensils and similar articles.

There also is said to be a broad scheme for tightening up civilian war discipline, which is said to involve a new rationing scheme which would limit the food allowed for each person to about $5 or so weekly. Such a maximum allowance is suggested for all foods whether the so-called "essential" or "luxury" types. The scheme also entails preparations against invasion and new control of all forms of work, workers and employers.

No Conscription of Labor.

Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin tonight on the radio told Canada he had no intention to conscript labor as permitted under the law. He said this was unnecessary, and that all the government was doing was to get all the data—names, ages and experience—so the workers could be employed where they would be the most useful. The reason conscription was not necessary, he said, was because "workers were ready and willing to go" where ordered.

Bevin urged Canadian workers to join the huge war savings scheme and lend their savings to the state, which, he said, would provide a credit after the war which would help in reconstruction.

"Ashes in the Mouth."

But victory over the axis powers would be "ashes in the mouths of all the democracies," Miss Booth went on, unless the United States was willing to help preserve peace in the future.

"We are now a grown-up nation and must play a grown-up part in the world's affairs," she insisted.

Miss Thompson, who is the wife of Sinclair Lewis, the novelist, thundered another demand for federation with Great Britain during a radio debate last Thursday night. She proposed "a voluntary federation" of the English speaking world. At the start this federation would pool its resources for common defense, common currency, common economic policy in regard to trade and disposal of surpluses, and free immigration between the various countries.

2,000 Attend Banquet.

"Union Now" hit a new high on the night of Jan. 22 when 2,000 devotees of the plan gathered for a $5 a plate banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria. Both Miss Booth and Miss Thompson were on the program.

"Such a union would give the maximum degree of unity in carrying on the war," declared Miss Booth.

Miss Thompson blamed the United States for withdrawing from European affairs after using "money and blood" to purchase the victory in the world war.

British Lord Speaks.

Another speaker at the affair was Lord Marley, deputy speaker of the house of lords.

"The British offensive must offer not only the certainty of overwhelming military authority but a new idea in democratic idealism," said Lord Marley. "The federal system ['Union Now'] is a means for maintaining the cultural and other differences of the various races and nations, while securing them eventual political unity for military protection and mutual development."

Thomas Mann, German author, told the dinner guests the goal of the war "must be a community of free peoples responsible to one another, a democracy of states."

"Higher Ideals of Man."

"One says no longer: 'I am a German, an Italian, a Britisher, an American,'" remarked Mann. "One says: 'I believe in the higher ideals of man, in right, in freedom.' or: 'I believe in force, in high explosive bombs, and bestiality.'"

Also addressing the gathering, M. Andre Geraud, the French publicist who writes under the name of "Pertinax," put in France's bid for union after the war.

Finally, the author of the scheme arose to speak to his followers. Streit maintained that "to win the peace for democracy the first essential is to keep autocracy from winning the war."

Streit proposed the formation of a "provisional emergency union" with the English speaking democracies, while a federal convention meanwhile undertook to work out a permanent world constitution, such as binds the states within the United States."

PROSECUTOR TO SEEK JURY ACTION TODAY IN ST. CHARLES KILLING

State's Attorney Seidel

State's Attorney Charles G. Seidel of Kane county will go before Circuit Judge Charles D. Page in Geneva today to ask him to recall the February grand jury to hear evidence against two employés of the St. Charles School for Boys who are charged with murder in the beating of a school inmate.

At the same time a committee appointed by Gov. Dwight H. Green will meet in Chicago to formulate plans for reorganizing the state's police, prison, and parole administration into one department. The committee, headed by Rodney H. Brandon, state director of public welfare, will discuss conditions at the St. Charles school.

The two who are accused of murder are Robert Adams, 33 years old, of Lanark, and William Laird, 27, of Elgin. They are charged with fatally beating James Williams, 16, colored, 1260 Jefferson street, who was sent to the school in January, 1940, for auto theft.

EX-KING ALFONSO SLIGHTLY BETTER, DOCTORS REPORT

ROME, Feb. 16 (AP).—Physicians attending former king Alfonso XIII. of Spain said today he passed a better night Saturday than he did Friday when he suffered a second heart attack. A bulletin early tonight said he had shown "slight improvement." He is at a hotel here. His second daughter, Princess Maria Cristina, arrived from Turin. The condition of Alfonso's 73 year old retainer, Marquis Emilio Torres de Mendoza, ill with pneumonia, is still grave.

WIND FANS HUGE FIRES SWEEPING BIG CITY IN SPAIN

Hundreds of Buildings in Santander Burn.

MADRID, Feb. 16, Monday (AP).—More than 200 homes in Santander, port city of 90,000 population on the Bay of Biscay, were destroyed by windswept flames that still were blazing early today despite a 24 hour effort by fire fighters to check them.

Radio reports from the hurricane and fire stricken town said the fire was started by an explosion aboard an oil tanker in the harbor. The winds picked up the blaze and spread it thru a greater part of the city as fire fighters rushed there from as far away as Madrid.

Communications with Santander were cut except for the radio calls from a ship in the harbor.

Cathedral Is Burned.

Fragmentary reports said fears were felt that the conflagration might be a repetition of the disaster of 50 years ago when half the city was destroyed by the explosion of a shipload of contraband dynamite.

Most inhabitants had been removed from the blazing areas, the radio reports said. Thus far only three deaths have been reported.

Among the hundreds of buildings reported destroyed or ablaze were the customs house, cathedral, market house, and many buildings along the waterfront.

Another disaster attributed to the storms sweeping Spain occurred Saturday night between San Sebastian and Bilbao, where three coaches of a passenger train plunged into a river. At least 26 persons were officially reported killed and 37 injured.

Hurricane winds blew off rooftops, uprooted trees, and disrupted electric services in Burgos, and other storm damage was reported from such widely separated points as Seville, Pamplona, Cordoba, and Algeciras.

In Seville a number of persons were injured and a torrential rain caused fears of a flood. Telegraph poles snapped, trees were blown down, and street car service was interrupted.

The American Red Cross ship Cold Harbor, arriving with relief supplies for Spain, had difficulty docking at Cadiz. Many merchant ships from Gibraltar took refuge along the Spanish coast.

Shipping thru the Gibraltar straits was halted and one freighter anchored at Gibraltar broke its moorings and piled up on the beach at La Linea. Two naval hydroplanes also broke loose and crashed together.

25 Die When Boat Sinks.

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 17 (AP).—Twenty-five persons were reported drowned at Alhandra, 10 miles up the Tagus river, when a boat sank during a hurricane yesterday. Nine persons died in Lisbon and 150 were hurt during the storm. Damage was estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Winds which lashed the city and countryside reached a top speed of 125 miles an hour at nearby Cintra, where airport hangars were demolished, eight planes destroyed, and a Spanish airways Douglas transport plane badly damaged.

The first survey of damage along the Tagus river indicated 16 luggers and smacks, a dredge, and scores of small boats were sunk. Telephone and telegraph communications in the rest of Portugal were smashed and the extent of the damage beyond Lisbon was still unknown.

City in Flames

(Story in adjoining column.)

Hindsight and Foresight—

Life Insurance is a Career Today

An eighteen-year-old boy writes me: "I am entering college in the Fall, and want to plan my course with an eye to my business future. Will you please tell me frankly what qualities I should possess to be a successful life insurance agent?"

You should be a man with a sincere interest in and sympathy for human beings. If you sincerely like people and if you can get deep and enduring satisfaction from the knowledge that your efforts have served to lighten the economic burden and make more bearable the misfortunes of others—then you possess a most essential quality of the good life insurance agent.

You should be able to discipline yourself, and manage your own work. By the time you start your career, you will perhaps have taken courses on life insurance in college, and your company will no doubt put you through a course of intensive training—but after that you will be more or less on your own.

You will meet stiff competition, not only in selling, but in rendering service. Selling will be only a part of your job. You should acquire a knowledge of some of the essentials of economics, finance, business organization, taxes, estates. You will spend much time in advising your clients about their existing insurance and in keeping yourself informed about their changing circumstances. You must make yourself the authority on family security in your community.

Life insurance is not an easy path to great wealth; a few agents at the top, as in most other businesses and professions, do make substantial incomes; the average agent can look forward to a good living. If you want to "make a killing," you will not be happy in life insurance.

The American people believe in life insurance and are entitled to a professional type of service from agents. If this kind of work appeals to you there is a career for you in life insurance.

1,500 UNIONISTS DEMAND DEFEAT OF DICTATOR BILL

O'Brien Assails Measure as War Breeder.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 16 [Special].—Fifteen hundred C. I. O. labor unionists from St. Joseph, La Porte, and Elkhart counties met here today in protest against involvement of the United States in the European war. After listening to an address by the Rev. Dr. John A. O'Brien, professor in the graduate school of Notre Dame university, the unionists adopted a resolution condemning President Roosevelt's war dictatorship bill and calling for its defeat.

Not only did the unionists condemn H. R. 1776, the dictatorship bill, but they demanded that the senate reject any substitute which would weaken or nullify the neutrality act or the Johnson act. The latter forbids government extension of credit to world war debt defaulters such as England, France, and Italy.

Charges False Pretense.

The resolution also charges that the Roosevelt administration, under the guise and false pretense of furthering national defense, is attacking the living standard of the common people, the existence of labor unions, and democratic institutions of the United States, and has brought the nation to the brink of war.

In the address which preceded adoption of the resolution, Father O'Brien denounced the dictatorship bill, which the United States senate will begin considering tomorrow, as a measure tending inevitably to push the country into war.

Father O'Brien warned his audience of working men that the laboring people of the nation would bear the burden of any participation in the European war and that social gains won in the last decade would be swept away.

Quotes British Leader.

Back recently from a year spent in Europe, Father O'Brien supported his thesis with an opinion of Arthur Greenwood, British labor leader, who does not have any illusions that the war will help his cause.

"'If this war is fought to mutual exhaustion,' Greenwood said, 'we shall experience a degree of impoverishment the like of which the British empire never has known. And at the end of the road of all suffering and sacrifice, we shall have an authoritarian régime of the right or left.'

"Labor thrives only under a democracy," continued Father O'Brien. "That is why labor thunders its protest against measures calculated to set up a military dictatorship to edge us into the flames of war.

What Labor Wants to Know.

"Organized labor is not content to look merely at the present artificial boom from war industries. It wants to know whither that path is leading. It remembers a recent order for four and a half million identification tags and the request for bids on one and a half million coffins. This has all the authentic, ominous rumblings of actual war in the offing.

"If the American people are dragged once again into the flame of Europe's war by an administration which talks of peace but acts with the fever of war hysteria in its blood, the masses of the people, especially the laboring class, will be the tragic victims, for they will be led helplessly and silently like sheep to the slaughter."

CONDEMN WAR BILL

Representatives of 41 unions, organized as the Trade Union Committee for Emergency Legislative Action, met yesterday in the Morrison hotel and condemned H. R. 1776, the war powers bill now before the senate, because it would "set up a dictatorship" and "could be used to crush labor."

Union representatives of the C. I. O., A. F. of L., and independent organizations who participated in the meeting planned to call a larger conference shortly in Springfield. Grant Oakes, national chairman of the Farm Equipment Workers' Organizing committee [C. I. O.], was chairman.

Other resolutions condemned as "antilabor" a series of bills introduced in the legislature by Representative Robert M. Woodward [R., 29th] which, it was said, would outlaw the right to strike, initiate government control of unions, require supervision of all union elections by a representative of the governor, and bar union support of parties or candidates.

The meeting also recorded protest against the arrest of Harry Bridges, C. I. O. longshoremen's leader, for a deportation hearing.

Ask Purposes of Bill.

William J. Grace, chairman of the Citizens' Keep America Out of War committee, called upon President Roosevelt yesterday "to state just what are the purposes of H. R. 1776 [the war dictatorship bill] and just how far you plan to go in the use of powers granted to you."

"We are told that Britain is warring against a dictatorship and that this bill will enable us to aid Britain in that war as a part of our own nation's defense against the threat of democracy," Grace said in a telegram to the President. "We are told also that the bill gives dictatorial power to you.

"If the war is to destroy a foreign dictatorship, what is gained when we create a domestic dictatorship?"

Requestioned

Frank Dougherty at the state's attorney's office for questioning in goon slaying.

Rubber covered pipe and blackjack said to have been found in Dougherty's home.

Frank Dougherty, 43 years old, who is held by the state's attorney's police for questioning about the goon slaying of Marinus Hvid, north side garage owner, on Dec. 27, 1939, will receive a lie detector test today. Hvid was slugged with a baseball bat during a dispute with a garage helpers' union and a garage owners' association.

Dougherty was a picket for the Auto Livery Chauffeurs, Taxicab Drivers, and Garage Helpers' union at the time of the slaying. He was arrested, but charges were dismissed.

Lieut. Thomas Kelly said police records show that Dougherty served 12 years in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kas., for manslaughter. He also served a year in the Bridewell for assault with intent to murder. Dougherty denied serving time in the Leavenworth prison. Police found a rubber hose and a blackjack in his home at 4032 Kenmore avenue.

HOPKINS HOME; SAYS HE PICKS BRITISH TO WIN

But, He Adds, They Need a Lot of Help.

Willkie Eyes China

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16 (AP).—Wendell Willkie is considering making a trip to survey embattled China, it was learned authoritatively tonight. Associates of the defeated 1940 Presidential candidate said he wished to follow up his flying survey of conditions in Great Britain with a trip to the sections of China which are not occupied by the Japanese. Willkie himself said there was "nothing definite" to the plan.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16 [Special].—Harry L. Hopkins returned from London tonight and hastened to President Roosevelt with the findings of his four week survey of British war making—a survey which led him to conclude that the British are "desperately in need of help."

The confidential information brought back by Hopkins from long conferences with Prime Minister Winston Churchill, sessions with the British cabinet and tours of the warring isles will form the basis for specific measures in Britain's behalf already being pondered by the President in anticipation of the war dictatorship bill's passage.

Predicts British Victory.

Hopkins expressed conviction that Britain would win the war with this country's assistance but the documentation for the general statements he made to reporters, presumably contained in a bulging black brief case, was reserved for the President alone.

Mr. Roosevelt sent a White House limousine to meet the train on which his closest confidant arrived from New York. Hopkins was sped straight to the White House, where the President awaited him and where Hopkins also lives with his daughter, Diana.

"Willkie's All Right."

Hopkins said he had seen Wendell Willkie in London, and when asked whether he had formed a better opinion of the defeated Republican Presidential nominee since the campaign, replied: "Willkie is all right."

He declined, however, to be drawn into a discussion of the question of sending additional destroyers to England, as advocated by Willkie, or to say anything about his trip.

It was in New York, where he arrived on the Yankee Clipper this morning, that he mentioned Britain's "desperate" need of help and at the same time expressed conviction that the British "will win the war" when the assistance is given.

300 Mothers Form New Group to Fight War Bill

Three hundred women attended an organization meeting in the La Salle hotel yesterday of an agency known as "We the Mothers Mobilize for America." Mrs. Barbara Winthrop, 1507 Oak avenue, Evanston, the president, said the organization would seek to coördinate all women's groups opposed to the lease-lend bill or any other acts tending to put the country into war. Another meeting will be held at 8 p. m. today in the La Salle hotel.

America First Chiefs to Carry Fight on War Bill to Congress

E. F. McGinnis.

Illinois leaders of the America First committee will call on every member of the state's congressional delegation in Washington next Monday to urge defeat of the war dictatorship bill, under plans outlined yesterday at headquarters in Chicago.

Representatives from 49 chapters and units of the America First Committee in the state will be in Washington that day to attend a conference of America First committee leaders from all states, according to Miss Cornelia Howe, secretary of the Chicago chapter.

Parley Called by Wood.

The Washington conference has been called by Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of the America First committee, to map plans for the senate fight against the war powers bill.

Edward F. McGinnis, chairman of the veterans' division of the America First committee, said other administration interventionists would be contacted this week in an effort to find an opponent to debate the dictatorship bill with Senator Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] next Sunday in Civic Opera house. So far, Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] and Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] have refused.

Evanston Sponsors Named.

Sponsors of Evanston chapter of the America First committee were announced by Mrs. Melvin Z. Bennett, chapter chairman.

The committee follows: Mrs. Benjamin Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Buck, Edward W. Bell, Dr. Homer C. Blakeslee, Mrs. George B. Dryden, Miss Lillian F. Ewen, Mrs. Malcolm F. Ewen, Mrs. J. H. Fall Jr., Mrs. J. W. Fall, Mrs. Harry P. French, Dr. Charles E. Galloway, Mrs. James W. Good, Miss Bertha Hawkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Ward T. Huston, Mrs. A. H. Mellinger, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Merrick, Edwin S. Mills, Mrs. Charles Moderwell, Mrs. J. P. Montgomery, Mrs. Henry D. Penfield, Dr. Charles E. Pope, Mrs. Harry H. Porter, Mrs. Hal P. Robey, Mr. and Mrs. David W. Shand, Mrs. Charles Granston Spray, Mrs. William G. Stearns, Miss Lucy Sheldon Stewart, Mrs. F. C. Tyler, Dr. and Mrs. Will Walter, Mr. and Mrs. George Walsh Jr., and Mrs. John E. Wilder.

CRUSADER RAPS LUCAS' REFUSAL TO SEE MOTHERS

Indignation at the refusal of Sen. Scott Lucas, Democratic senator from Illinois, to give an audience to members of the Mothers' Crusade to Defeat House Bill 1776 was expressed yesterday by Mrs. S. J. Gottschalk, 13141 Western avenue, Blue Island.

Mrs. Gottschalk, a member of the large Illinois delegation in the crusade to Washington, returned to Chicago yesterday. Up until the time of her departure from Washington, she said, the women had made six separate efforts to see Senator Lucas.

"And not one word came from Mr. Lucas," she said. "Senators from other states, whether they were for or against the bill, gave the women audiences, some as long as 2½ hours, but not Mr. Lucas. He placed two guards outside his office."

Milan, Mich., Feb. 16 (AP).—Fire gutted six stores in the business section of this village today, causing damage estimated at $25,000. Four firemen were injured, none seriously.

TWO INDIANA YOUTHS INJURED IN PLANE CRASH

Anthony Kwiatkowski, 23 years old, 3906 Fern street, East Chicago, and Walter Skoluk, 20, of 3928 Evergreen street, East Chicago, were injured yesterday when their plane crashed near Dyer, Ind., eight miles south of Hammond. Kwiatkowski, the pilot, suffered a broken arm and both of Skoluk's legs were fractured. They were taken to St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond. No one saw the crash, and the flyers were unable to explain it. The plane, which had taken off from Harvey airport, crashed nose down.

ENGLAND'S WAR BUYING BOOMS EMPIRE'S TRADE

Surplus Commodities Are Taken by Britain.

New York, Feb. 16 (AP).—Business is booming in the far flung British empire as a result of the war.

British dominions and colonies are selling their entire surplus of commodities that Britain needs to the mother country, according to a survey completed by the Associated Press. Industries thruout the empire are humming with war orders. The empire is sending soldiers to Britain's aid. Cash gifts aggregating millions of dollars have been made by the peoples of the empire to the prosecution of the war.

The dominions—Australia, Canada, New Zealand, and the Union of South Africa—have declared war. Big and small, the units of the empire have sent their aid: The Windward islands, 104 bags of cocoa; the sultan of Zanzibar, gold for two fighting planes; the maharajah of Bikaner, his personal camel corps.

How Dominions Help.

First in magnitude come the war efforts of the dominions, listed below, and of India, a representative government without dominion status:

AUSTRALIA, population 6,867,000—Selling exclusively to Great Britain all her surplus wool, meat, butter, cheese, canned and dried fruit, and sugar. Spending $2,335,000 a day on war activities as compared with about $780,000 a day in the world war. Training and equipping 120,000 volunteer soldiers for the empire, and sending them to England, Libya, and Egypt, 5,000 a month. Organizing 250,000 home defenders. Building 15 10,000 ton prefabricated freighters a year. Building three destroyers and 50 mine sweepers and antisubmarine patrol craft. Manufacturing Bren machine guns and hoping to build a bombing plane every day in 1941. Working on orders for $6,500,000 worth of machine tools.

Canada Spends 3 Million a Day.

CANADA, population 11,315,000—Spending $3,000,000 a day on war activities. Coöperating with Australia and New Zealand in training of pilots, observers, gunners, and ground crews in a program intended to turn out 30,000 trained airmen a year. Has 36,000 men in royal Canadian air force, separate from training program. Has three air squadrons in England and plans to have 25 more there by end of year. Has 60,000 soldiers overseas, 105,000 in active army at home, and 180,000 in reserves. Has increased navy from 1,800 sailors and 15 ships to nearly 16,000 sailors and 180 ships. Building 100 to 150 war planes a month. Has industrial and shipbuilding plants running at capacity. Manufacturing 600 automotive units a month. Building aircraft and antiaircraft guns, antitank cannon, and machine guns.

New Zealand Sends Men.

NEW ZEALAND, population 1,602,000—Selling all exports of wool, butter, cheese, and meat to Great Britain. Sent 21,000 men to England, Palestine, Egypt, and Libya, 2,365 being in the British royal air force. Expects to train 3,700 pilots a year. Equipped Auckland bases and expanded them.

UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA, population, 9,889,000—Selling Great Britain entire wool clip and supplying Great Britain with maize, dairy products, sugar, and wool. Promised to defend British colonies in southern Africa. Sent two military units to fight for the empire in Ethiopia and Italian Somaliland and a small air force to operate in Ethiopia. Has 100,000 men ready to fight anywhere in Africa. Spending $548,000 a day on war effort. Constructing coastal defenses and guarding 2,000 miles of African coastline to protect British ships. Running its lumber mills at capacity to compensate for timber shortage resulting from the shutting off of Finnish and Norwegian supplies. Industries producing armored car bodies, ammunition, rifles, trench mortars, hand grenades, and general field equipment and machine tools. Mines producing huge quantities of materials for explosives.

India Sells Many Goods.

INDIA AND THE INDIAN STATES, population 352,837,000—Selling Great Britain rubber, tea, cotton, iron, coal, shellac, hides, mica, manganese, and hemp. Gave $3,000,000 in individual cash donations to the Viceroy's War Purposes fund, $1,000,000 to East Indian Fund for Aircraft, and large sums to the Madras and Bombay funds for plane purchases. Sent native troops to battle in France. Manned and officered an Indian air squadron. Reinforced Hongkong and Singapore British artillery forces and sent its navy of five escort vessels and other craft to patrol the Indian seas for Great Britain. Training 500 pilots and 2,000 mechanics for British R. A. F. Financed $15,000,000 aircraft factory and a $21,000,000 expansion for ordnance factories. Manufacturing planes, artillery, armor plating for tanks, cannon, rifles, machine guns, and clothing.

[The war aid Great Britain is receiving from her colonies will be told in a second article tomorrow.]

BIRTH RATE IN 1940 HIGHEST IN DECADE; 100,000 OVER 1939'S

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16 (AP).—An estimate that 2,350,000 babies were born in the United States last year, the highest number since 1930, came today from the census bureau.

This was approximately 100,000 greater than the 1939 total and lifted the national birth rate from 17.3 to 18 for every 1,000 of population. The rate was the lowest in 1933, when it stood at 16.5.

Nevertheless, the bureau said that the long range birth rate trend still was downward. It attributed the 1940 rise largely to the fact that persons born of marriages during the immediate post-world war period—which saw a sharp upturn in weddings—had reached marriageable ages.

The increased birth rate was accompanied by a decrease in the infant mortality rate from 48 to 47.9 deaths for each 1,000 births. However, the over-all death rate increased from 10.6 to 10.8 deaths for each 1,000 of population.

ASK ROOSEVELT TO FEED ARMIES BATTLING AXIS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16 (AP).—President Roosevelt was asked today to make it possible for the United States to feed as well as arm the nations fighting the axis powers.

"We ask you, Mr. President," said a group of educators, writers, clergymen, and business men, "to take such steps as may be necessary to make us not only the arsenal but the larder of democracy."

The request was contained in a telegram bearing more than 150 signatures and released to the press by Vice President Henry A. Wallace. The signers included: James P. Warburg, New York banker; Henry D. Gideonse, president of Brooklyn college, New York; Carter Glass Jr., Lynchburg, Va.; George Stuart Patterson, cotton merchant, Philadelphia; Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt, New York; Herbert Bayard Swope, journalist, New York; Thomas S. Gates, president, University of Pennsylvania; Barry Bingham, Louisville, Ky., publisher; Henry B. Cabot, Dover, Mass.; Ward Cheney, New York manufacturer; Ernest W. Gibson, chairman, Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies; the Rt. Rev. Henry W. Hobson, Episcopal bishop of southern Ohio; Frank R. Kent, editor, Baltimore; Maury Maverick, mayor, San Antonio, Tex.; Melvyn Douglas, actor, and Joan Bennett, actress.

CITY'S LITHS ASK FREEDOM ON DAY OF INDEPENDENCE

Chicagoans of Lithuanian extraction observed the 23d anniversary of Lithuanian independence yesterday. For many the day was one of sadness. After 22 years of freedom, Lithuania again became a vassal land last June, when it was absorbed by soviet Russia. Consequently, in yesterday's three events here—services in 15 Lithuanian churches, a massmeeting, and an evening banquet—prayers were made and hopes were voiced for its liberation.

Several thousands gathered at the Realty Board auditorium at 2 p. m. to hear Petras Dauzvardis, Chicago consul of Lithuania, and Owen J. C. Norem, United States minister to Lithuania, speak. A banquet and motion pictures of Lithuania preceded an evening pageant in the Morrison hotel.

RUSSIA CLAIMS HUGE INCREASE IN PRODUCTION

Asks New Industrial and Transport Gains.

MOSCOW, Feb. 16 (AP).—Claims of a "tremendous growth in production" in Russia were disclosed officially today in a report on industry and transport by Secretary Malenkov of the communist party's central committee.

The report was made to the party's 18th all-union conference. Malenkov announced that Russia had solved her first big problem, assurance of a grain supply, and now must turn the party's attention to industry and transport.

He said gross production of soviet industry last year was 137,500,000,000 rubles and compared that figure with 123,915,000,000 rubles in 1939 and 106,834,000,000 in 1938. [The ruble is not quoted in foreign exchange.]

Defense Capacity Bolstered.

"The increase in industry and circulation of goods," he declared, "guaranteed further growth of the people's economy and strengthening of the defense capacity of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

"Success in acquisition of new techniques and growth of the defense industry permitted a considerable increase in mechanization of the Red army and navy with the newest models and types of armaments."

Malenkov reported several industries failed to fulfill 1940 plans under Russia's third five year plan. These included locomotive and car building, electricity, timber, paper, fish, and building materials. Some fell behind 1939 schedules.

Transport Systems Lag.

Transport systems also lagged, he said, citing sea and river systems as having fallen short in deliveries, especially of "such important kinds of production as ore, oil, grain, salt, timber, and coal."

The lag, he said, was due to defects in management commissariats and lack of attention by party committees.

"Our party," he declared, urging committees to check closely on fulfillment of plans, "is steadfastly carrying into practice Stalin's [Josef Stalin, soviet dictator] teachings on socialist industrialization.

Goal Is Outlined.

"Industrialization of the U. S. S. R. became the law of socialist development in our country. In order not to become an appendage of capitalist economy, we must have everything at our disposal—so teaches Stalin.

"Our party insures the independence of the national economy of the U. S. S. R. We must develop industry, develop our economy for the sake of the victory of socialism, for the sake of building socialism—so teaches Stalin."

URGE 10% GROSS INCOME TAX TO FINANCE DEFENSE

Economists Warn U. S. It Can't Afford Loans.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16.—Warning that the United States is being drawn into a war for which it is unprepared both financially and militarily, the National Economy league tonight urged as a defense financing step adoption of a special 10 per cent tax on all gross income paid to individuals.

Harley L. Lutz.

The defense program must be put substantially on a cash basis to avoid dangers of inflationary bank borrowing or dictatorship, said the league which is a nonprofit organization founded in 1932 to secure the elimination of wasteful or unjustifiable federal expenditures.

The league's recommendations were based upon a special report prepared by Harley L. Lutz, professor of public finance at Princeton university and consulting economist.

U. S. Being Drawn In.

"The American people are being drawn into the present European war by a process quite similar in character [tho different in detail] to that by which they were drawn into the first world war," Lutz said.

"In each case they have approached the conflict from the same background—namely, a strong preference for peace, limited and inadequate military equipment and organization, and a naive belief in the validity of a neutrality concept developed long ago.

"While the psychological aspects of the two situations have been much the same, the practical aspects, especially on the fiscal side, are vastly different. In 1916 the federal debt was 1 billion 225 millions. Today it is 45 billions. In 1916 the federal expenditures were 734 millions, but for 1941 they will approximate 8 billion 500 millions, apart from defense spending.

Need 'Immense Ballyhoo.'

"In 1916 federal taxes amounted to 726 millions, while in 1941 they will exceed 7 billions. Furthermore, the attitude of government toward business in 1916 was benevolent, but today that attitude is critical, even hostile.

"It is obvious that the defense program is being undertaken in the face of serious fiscal handicaps. An immense ballyhoo will be required to conceal these handicaps and to preserve national morale by diverting public attention to other matters than the financial chaos resulting from the 'boondoggling' years. It will not be easy, by any devices, to pay for defense, or to pay the cost of war, if that should come."

What Congress Should Do.

To meet the situation, Lutz said, congress should take the steps.

1. A drastic reduction in all nonessential federal spending. Such spending is estimated at 4 billion 701 million dollars in the 1941 budget and 4 billion 59 million in the 1942 budget, only a slight reduction. A 10 per cent reduction also in "moral commitments," such as veterans' benefits and social security for one year would pay for a battleship, the report says. Such commitments are estimated at 990 millions in 1941 and 1 billion 28 million in 1942. Essential spending is estimated at 7 billion 850 million, including 6 billion 464 million for defense, in 1941, and 12 billion 399 million, including 10 billion 811 million for defense, in the 1942 budget.

2. Put the defense program on a cash basis by levying the 10 per cent special defense tax on all gross income to individuals. This tax, in addition to existing taxes and the drastic economies recommended in point 1, would come close to putting the defense program on a cash basis in 1942. Income payments to individuals in 1940 were estimated at 74 billion 300 millions, and with 30 billions in prospective defense spending the total is expected to rise.

Collected at Source.

Lutz said that the proposed tax would be collected in the widest possible degree at the source, instalments, similar to the collection of social security taxes. Self-employed individuals, such as farmers and professional men, would be required to file special returns as a basis for the tax, said Lutz. The special levy would be in addition to existing taxes, which would apply to the remaining 90 per cent of income paid to individuals.

DRAG LITTLE CALUMET RIVER TODAY IN SEARCH FOR 2 MISSING BOYS

The Little Calumet river near Riverside drive and Robertson subdivision in South Holland will be dragged today in the belief that two 13 year old Phoenix schoolboys missing since Feb. 12 plunged to their death thru soft ice. The boys are Fred Yearwood, 15127 5th avenue, and Reginald Brazier, colored, 15114 6th avenue, pupils at Coolidge school. After they were reported missing, Homewood county highway police broadcast an appeal to be on the lookout for them, but nothing further was heard until yesterday. Then Sergt. Anton Paulus was told by Joseph Truomp, 20, of 151st street and 9th avenue, South Holland, that he had seen the boys pass his home carrying air rifles and heading for the river on the day of their disappearance. The river that day was partly covered with ice which was thawing.

1,500 ILLINOIS MEN BEGIN SERVICE IN ARMY THIS WEEK

More than 1,500 men are scheduled for induction into the army this week, 1,045 from Cook county and 470 from downstate. Of the Cook county quota, all except 63 are volunteers.

Eighteen suburban and five city draft boards will supply 235 men today. Fifty-five city boards will send 309 men to the induction center tomorrow, and 307 men from 57 city draft boards will report Wednesday. Friday's quota is 315 men, 42 from one Chicago board—its first quota since last November—and 273 men from 55 downstate boards.

HINT TEACHERS' UNION TO OUST 4 LOCALS AS 'RED'

Secret Session of Council Is Concluded.

The executive council of the American Federation of Teachers after deliberating in secret continuously for 38 hours with the exception of a three hour recess, refused early today to announce whether it had decided to revoke the charters of three New York City locals of the federation and one Philadelphia local. The four locals were charged with "practices inimical to democracy," in particular communist tendencies.

Dr. George S. Counts, professor of education at teachers' college, Columbia university, who is president of the federation, said that the decision would be announced later today after the council's findings had been transmitted to the locals under fire.

Some observers took this to mean that the council had found against the locals. They based this assumption on the belief that if the council had exonerated the locals it would not have hesitated to say so publicly, but, if the finding was guilty, the council would prefer to notify the locals to that effect first.

Began Work Saturday.

The council began its deliberations Saturday at 10 a. m. and continued without interruption or recess until 7 a. m. yesterday. The hearing was resumed at 10 a. m. and held continuously until midnight. Some supporters of the locals who appeared as witnesses denounced the whole procedure as a "witch hunt."

The accused locals are the New York Teachers' union, local No. 5, which, with 6,500 members, is the second largest in the federation; the College Teachers' union, local No. 537; the WPA Teachers' union, local No. 453, and the Philadelphia Teachers' union, local No. 192. The only local against which a formal charge was brought was No. 5. The others were told that the council would consider whether their existence was "detrimental to democracy and education."

Communism Charged.

Nine counts were brought against local No. 5 when it was served with notice Jan. 3 to show cause why its charter should not be revoked. Most of these pertained to charges that the local has been under communist domination since 1935. Another charge was that the local fostered dual unionism by sponsoring organization of a C. I. O. local for custodial workers while the federation is affiliated with the A. F. of L. and there is a local of that body having jurisdiction over the same employés.

In 1935 an A. F. of L. committee first investigated the Red charges. In 1938 the three New York locals were ordered to clear their ranks of communists or lose their charters. Altho officers of the locals denied that the charges of communism had any basis in fact, there have been heavy withdrawals of members from the locals and one group of 1,500 former members of No. 5 established an independent Teachers' guild.

GENTLE MEI-MEI ADDS 289 POUNDS TO 24 IN 3 YEARS

Mei-Mei, the giant panda, tomorrow will observe the third anniversary of her coming to the Brookfield zoo. When she came, she weighed 24 pounds; now she weighs 313. Moreover, when she stands on her hind legs, she is 5 feet 11 inches tall. She eats from 10 to 12 pounds of spinach, green cornstalks, alfalfa, dog biscuit, whole wheat bread, cereal, milk, apples, and carrots a day. This, in case the public wonders, is as much as a grown black bear eats, or two grown men. "And," says Sam Parrett, her keeper, "she's not a bit meaner than the day she came."

G. O. P. DIAGNOSIS PUTS SCHROEDER IN LEADER'S ROLE

Tells What Party Needs to Regain Power.

The drive to bring the next national chairmanship of the Republican party to the midwest attaches unusual interest to an analysis by Werner W. Schroeder, Illinois national committeeman of the problems confronted by the party, G. O. P. leaders said yesterday. Schroeder, credited with having led the battered Illinois organization to victory in most of the state contests in the 1940 campaign, has been mentioned frequently for the national chairmanship.

W. W. Schroeder.

Schroeder's party diagnosis, appearing in the magazine The Republican, asserts that winning the big city vote is the most important goal of the G. O. P.

City Strength Needed.

"The tremendous gains achieved by the Republican party over the results of 1936 would have been transformed into victory," he says, "if the large cities of New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Minnesota, and a few other states had not upset the Republican majorities in the smaller cities, towns, and rural communities of those commonwealths.

"It behooves us whose task it is to preserve and consolidate the gains of the last campaign and to concentrate our long range planning for 1944 on a determined effort to locate the causes of our weakness in the cities and to correct them before the next election."

Urges "Sales" Campaign.

Salesmanship, in the highest sense of the term, is the prime requisite for the job ahead, he contends.

"The sales campaign often has to begin with an effort to eliminate unfair practices of competition," he says. "In big city politics this unfair competition lies in the corrupt control of elections by political machines. We have properly declared war on the machines."

In Chicago the antimachine and honest ballot drive resulted in a 50 per cent gain for the Republicans in the 16 "worst" wards of the city, compared with a city-wide gain of 29 per cent, over 1936 results, according to Schroeder.

DIES AT WHEEL OF AUTO.

Joseph Riplinger, 55 years old, a butcher, died of an apparent heart attack yesterday as he was driving to his home at 5020 George street. His car, with his body slumped at the wheel, was found against a tree in front of 4045 North Kostner avenue.

4 BANDITS GIVE GUM TO 18 VICTIMS, TAKE $4,000 IN CASH, GEMS

Four bandits who passed around gum with the advice, "Take some, it will quiet your nerves," robbed 17 customers and the owner of Strulevitz' restaurant at 929 Roosevelt road of $1,000 and $3,000 worth of jewelry last night. The door was locked to keep out panhandlers, but a customer opened it when a smiling, well dressed young man rapped on the glass. His companions followed him in and all four drew guns.

The customers, eight of them women, were ordered to put their money and jewelry on the tables. As two of the bandits collected it, another took chewing gum from the counter and passed it around. Ruben Rothfield, the proprietor, said the men took $150 from the cash register, a quart of whisky, and a box of cigars as they left. Rothfield's mother, Anna, 64, ran in from the kitchen, crying, "Shoot me, not my son." She was handed a stick of gum.

One of the women wrote out her name and address and a description of a ring when a robber agreed to mail it back to her, but said he was too busy to separate it from the other jewelry.

TRAPPED BY AUTO LICENSE; ADMITS PURSE SNATCHES

The license number of his auto yesterday betrayed Gordon Lepper, 19 years old, who admitted three purse snatchings after police arrested him in his home at 5447 Cortez street.

Lepper, a laborer, was identified by Miss Patricia Thomas, 3535 5th avenue, whose purse he grabbed at Congress street and Central Park avenue, and by Miss Carolyn Moran, 1026 North Parkside avenue, whom he robbed at Drake avenue and Augusta boulevard. He admitted both thefts, police said, and also admitted taking a purse from Mrs. Regina Parodi, 734 North St. Louis avenue, whom he accosted at Iowa street and Drake avenue. Detectives Walter Pidgeon and Phil Epstein of the Fillmore station found the money in his pocket and recovered the abandoned purses.

Mrs. Lucille Kelly, 525 Wrightwood avenue, a business woman, reported to police yesterday that her purse, containing $135, had been seized at Lehmann court and Wrightwood avenue. Another purse snatcher snatched the purse of Mrs. Bernard Thomas near her home, 2022 Washington boulevard, and got $3.

TWO WEST SIDE HOMES LOOTED.

Two west side homes were reported burglarized yesterday. Arthur Unholz, 5459 Kamerling avenue a salesman, lost $160, a rug, and jewelry valued at $300. The home of J. Villas, 3328 Adams street, was robbed of $125, jewelry valued at $100 and two old coins.

REPUBLICANS SEE CHANCE TO ELECT JUSTICE FEB. 25

Optimistic Despite Record of Democratic Victories.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 16.—Downstate Republican leaders said today there is a chance that their party nominee for the 2d district vacancy on the bench of the Illinois Supreme court, June C. Smith of Centralia, may win from his Democratic opponent, Circuit Judge Franklin R. Dove of Shelbyville.

June C. Smith, [Top.] Judge F. R. Dove.

They put it that way because the district never has elected a Republican to the high court. In 1933 the Republicans ran no candidate against the late Justice Norman L. Jones, whose death created the vacancy now to be filled. In the governorship fight last November the district went Democratic by 10,933 and in the preceding April primary the party strength was about 3 to 2 Democratic.

Point to Special Factors.

In the face of such facts, the Republicans contend victory is possible because of special factors. The election on Feb. 25 is a special election. This is the only office to be voted upon. Party machine activity will be at a minimum. Personalities will count more than usual. And the G. O. P., they contend, is on the upgrade.

On the other hand, Democratic spokesmen show a greater degree of confidence. They say their nominee will win. Judge Dove is about the only one who isn't certain. He says with a laugh that he is fearful, then adds that he always has been that way as a candadiate; and he was elected to the Circuit bench in 1927, 1933, and 1940. He has not resigned from the bench to make this race.

Belt Across State.

The 2d Supreme court district is a belt, three counties deep, running all the way across the state, with its northern boundary lying a short distance south of Springfield. The 1st, extending to the farthest tip of the state, is the only one south of it.

The 2d district includes 21 counties, the largest of which is Madison county on the Mississippi, with a big vote from four big centers, Alton, Granite City, Edwardsville, and the village of Madison. And this county is the biggest factor in advance analyses of the election. It cast 73,806 votes in the governorship contest, more than three times as many as any other county in the district.

The district gave Harry B. Hershey 10,933 votes more than it gave to Dwight H. Green last November, but Madison county alone gave Hershey a majority of 10,536, or all but 397 of his district lead. That was because Green carried 13 of the other 20 counties.

Marion county was the Democrats' second best in the governorship race, but it is June Smith's home and his supporters say that he will cut into the Democratic vote materially there and may wipe it out entirely. Their best claim for an improved showing in Madison county is that in off years it has elected Republican officials.

Republicans say the most recent division of the Supreme bench—which included Justice Jones—was 5 to 2 in favor of the Democrats and that recent Republican trends in Illinois will tend to swing the court gradually back toward its old Republican complexion.

INDIANA GOVERNOR ELECTION CONTEST DECISION AWAITED

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 16 [Special].—An executive session of the governorship contest committee of the Indiana legislature will be held here tomorrow to discuss, and perhaps decide, whether this group of 14 men shall invalidate election returns from Lake county precincts where aliens voted last Nov. 5.

Last week former Judge Virgil E. Whitaker of Hammond said it could be proved that between 1,200 and 1,600 aliens voted in Lake county. The state-wide margin of victory for Gov. Henry F. Schricker, Democrat, over Glen R. Hillis, Republican, was 3,963 votes. But if only six selected Lake county precincts were thrown out, Schricker's lead would be gone.

Yesterday committee members, who have no precedent to follow in their exercise of power conferred by the state constitution, received briefs from Whitaker in support of his contention that precinct returns may be invalidated.

1,814 Die in 1940 in Rail Crossing Crashes in U.S.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16 (AP).—The Association of American Railroads said today that 1,814 deaths occurred in grade crossing crashes last year—the largest number in a decade except for 1937 when the total was 1,875. D. H. Beatty, chairman of the safety section of the association, said the increase last year resulted largely from the fact that more trains and automobiles were in operation.

WEALTH AND THE WAR BILL.

When the stockholders of the Chase National bank met last month in New York, Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the board, gave some of them a start by urging that Mr. Roosevelt's war bill be given "overwhelming support in congress and thruout the country." The reporters noted that the declaration took the stockholders completely by surprise and that several protested vigorously. One woman asked: "Why have you gone over to the New Deal?" According to the New York Times, Mr. Aldrich replied that it was the only course a great bank like the Chase could pursue.

The woman stockholder departed and Mr. Aldrich continued his remarks. "The grant of power provided for in this bill is unprecedented in American history," he said. "The situation with which we are confronted is also unprecedented."

The very wealthy families of the country, the millionaires of the east, and the great financial institutions there have been the most exclamatory and insistent of the high pressure minority groups which have endeavored to overwhelm congress with alarm and to spread fear thruout the country. The wealth of the United States as concentrated in this minority has helped Mr. Roosevelt send visionary Nazi bombers over Omaha and persuade the citizens of two seaboards that they should be digging bomb shelters and practicing blackouts.

The rich have supported the dictatorship bill and it will be small consolation to the majority of Americans that when the consequences arrive the rich may be the first victims. In their disregard of their own country's welfare they have sought to throw the United States into a war and in their madness they have ceased to make any of the calculations which selfishness is supposed to suggest to them. All the big banks in the east, all of the millionaire society is for putting us into war. Their social and cultural life is closer to the people of the British upper and upper middle classes than to the mass of their fellow countrymen.

It seems natural to them that our "Tommies" should join the British "Tommies." They are willing that their own sons should be officers and share the dangers, if not the privations, of the common soldier, to save British culture, the British empire, and British superiority. They are entirely on the level in this peculiar idealism.

They dominate finance and they own the great mediums of communication, such as the stage, the screen, most of the radio, and an influential part of the press. They furnish most of the campaign contributions.

They may force the unwilling majority of their fellow countrymen into the horrors of war. If they do, they face extinction. The normal envy of the rich has been organized by Mr. Roosevelt and his camorra for eight years. The sixty families and their sixty thousand cousins have been used to rouse the rabble for three elections. What shift may they expect from the millions upon whom they bring war? Given a terrible injury, the American people, we may fear, will yield to that instinct of intolerance for minorities that has bred a series of disasters thruout all history. The stage for a violent revolution is being set by its inevitable victims.

SYLVAN MOMENT IN A LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

In seeking an answer to an inquiry from a mildly indignant but, as events showed, a mistaken Vox Popper who wanted to know what became of the wood cut in the forest preserves, we came in possession of a letter written from the preserve headquarters to a citizen who wanted to cut some of the dead trees for himself. Part of it follows:

"You may not realize it, but every dead tree, until it falls, furnishes a home for such birds as flickers, woodpeckers, bluebirds, and owls, and for such wild animals as opossums, raccoons, and squirrels. After the tree has fallen and until it has rotted to powder it furnishes a home and a breeding place for literally millions of insects and for fungi. These insects include not only bugs and beetles, but thousandlegs, worms, and grubs, as well as ants and even more minute forms.

"All of these live and die—living they not only prey upon each other but furnish food for the wild animals and birds; dying, they and the rotted wood fibers contribute something to the soil that cannot be purchased or obtained in any other way. It has been found that a healthy forest cannot exist without them.

"We are trying to maintain a natural forest, not a park. A park is a man-made thing, from which all such timber is removed. For the last four years we have refrained from cutting or removing any dead timber except in areas immediately adjacent to or included in our major picnic areas, where they might become hazardous to the public. Such as are removed are used in our sawmill to provide lumber for construction purposes, or for fuel for the public in the picnic areas."

After watching Sheriff O'Brien try to find a handbook and the county commissioners store themselves up future headaches in the budget they have just passed, this seems most refreshing. We like to think of the county's foresters waiting patiently as the little bugs eat the logs, the big bugs eat the little bugs, the raccoons eat the big bugs, and so on until they all sink back into the earth to nourish the grandeur of an oak or the beauty of a trillium.

DR. CONANT GOES TO WAR.

Of all the scientists in the United States, Mr. Roosevelt chose President Conant of Harvard to go to England as head of a mission to study new weapons and their manufacture.

There can be no doubt of the meaning of that appointment. Dr. Conant is an outspoken advocate of a declaration of war against Germany and Italy if that is necessary to bring about their defeat. The phrase "short of war" which enabled Mr. Roosevelt to win the last election assumes little importance in Dr. Conant's thinking. He is an all-outer and perhaps the most conspicuous all-outer in the country.

If Dr. Conant were uniquely qualified to head the scientific mission the appointment might be explained on that ground but, of course, there are many men who are as well or better equipped for the task. He was chosen precisely because of his political opinions, not in spite of them. Mr. Roosevelt would have had no difficulty in finding another man of equal or greater eminence in the field of scientific theory and scores of men who know far more than Dr. Conant does about industrial processes and problems.

Dr. Conant's appointment was intended to serve notice once more upon America, Britain, and the rest of the world, that Mr. Roosevelt is preparing not to defend the United States but to go to war. As if to underline the point, dispatches announcing the mission spoke of it as the counterpart of the Thomas Alva Edison world war scientific mission which was created by Mr. Roosevelt in 1917 when he was assistant secretary of the navy.

Perhaps there are still some people who refuse to accept the proposition that Mr. Roosevelt is striving to put this country into war. If so, they must have paid no attention to the evidence of his words and his acts. His determination was first registered unmistakably here in Chicago in the autumn of 1937 when he dedicated the new Outer bridge with a speech advocating the quarantining of aggressor nations. At that moment he took a seat in the game of European power politics and he has held it ever since, playing for higher and higher stakes. The chips which he is now fingering, preparatory to tossing them into the game, are the lives of the young men now moving into the training camps.

The appointment of Dr. Conant, it should be observed, comes just as the senate is about to begin debate on the 1776 bill. If the bill is passed, Mr. Roosevelt will say that congress could not have been unaware of the interpretation he would place upon the bill's grants of power to him. He had just gone out of his way to select an all-outer for a conspicuous mission to Britain. He did that to convey a meaning which anybody could understand.

BRITAIN'S FINANCIAL POSITION.

In 1938, the last full year before the outbreak of the present war, our exports to the British empire totaled 1 billion 293 million dollars, and our imports from the British empire amounted to 637 million dollars. Even in peacetime we sold more to the British than we bought from them. They regularly found the means to pay for an excess of our goods. But it wasn't such a bad arrangement for the British, because we allowed the balance to be settled in gold, for which since 1933 we paid 35 dollars an ounce, a very fancy price. The output of gold in the British empire amounts to about ¾ of a billion dollars a year.

There has been no interruption of the output of British gold since the war started. In fact it has been slightly increasing. Moreover, our imports from the British empire in 1940 were nearly 80 per cent greater than in 1938 and were the largest in a long period of years. Thus altho British imports from the United States last year, including arms and aircraft, amounted to a little over 2 billion dollars, the British were able to pay for more than half with the goods they sold to us and most of the balance with the output of British gold mines. By enforcing rigid economies in the consumption of food and of luxury articles usually purchased in the United States, the British were able to divert much of their spending money to their defense needs.

Besides the current flow of purchasing power from exports and gold production, the British empire possessed at the beginning of the war large assets convertible into dollars. These consisted in the first instance of accumulated gold reserves and dollar balances in American banks and the New York Federal Reserve bank. In addition there were investments here by British citizens and companies in securities and in various American businesses and properties not represented by securities. The federal reserve board of governors placed the total of these items for the British empire at 7 billion 115 million dollars at the opening of the war.

In addition the reserve board found that Belgium, the Netherlands, and Norway, whose governments in exile are British allies, had gold and dollar balances of 2 billion 755 million dollars in August, 1939. The aggregate for the British and their allies, excluding France, at the end of August, 1939, was nearly 10 billion dollars. There are probably other items which would increase this amount.

Some part of the French gold and dollar resources were in Great Britain at the time France capitulated and could be used by the British. The British possess dominion and colonial securities, some part of which could be liquidated here. The London Economist placed the value of these securities at 861 million pounds sterling at the outbreak of the war, or about 3½ billion dollars.

Income from these great investments in the United States and in the dominions has long contributed to British well-being. The desire of the nation to avoid impoverishing its citizens in order to wage war is understandable. But in the light of the facts which are available in public documents it is evident that our administration has misrepresented the figures on British dollar assets in the United States in its effort to get the lease and lend bill thru congress.

AN EXPERT ON BRITAIN?

[Reno Evening Gazette.]

According to a news dispatch from London, "Wendell L. Willkie has received an urgent request from Secretary of State Cordell Hull to hurry back home and testify on behalf of the administration for the aid to Britain bill."

Mr. Willkie had been in England just five days when he received the request. In five days he could scarcely qualify as an expert on Britain's present status.

The incident is faintly reminiscent of those Englishmen who used to come to the United States, tour New York and its immediate environs for a couple of weeks, and then return home to write a book about the American people.

IN THE BROWSING ROOM.

An authorized biography of John Barrymore will be published in March, and the Great Profile, now sagging under the eyes and chin, gave its consent thus: "For God's sake, don't whitewash me." Mr. Barrymore's peak as an actor was his New York run of 101 performances in "Hamlet," and there is conflicting opinion about his performance. Some people believe that it was one of the great Hamlets, and others maintain that it was the world's worst.

Arthur Hopkins, who produced the play, explains these contradictions about Barrymore's Hamlet in his book of memoirs, "To a Lonely Boy":

"His first performance was his best. Some of his later were embarrassingly bombastic. . . . He never had the gift of knowing when he was right."

* * *

When the members of the Moscow Art Theater went to see this "Hamlet" Barrymore, says Mr. Hopkins, "played with a hysteria and extravagance that was exhausting even to the spectators." They visited him in his dressing room afterward, but could think of nothing complimentary to say. Finally Mme. Chekova asked, "Do you really do this eight times a week?"

A paragraph in Octave Aubry's "The Second Empire," says Albert Jay Nock in the Atlantic Monthly, should be memorized by every American and repeated aloud every morning. Here it is, in part:

"In this romantic revolution sentiment was overwhelmingly to the fore. In other words, humanitarian enthusiasms, noble intentions and avowals, boundless hopes were expressed in fiery declamations. Anything suggesting rationality, consideration for public interest, a sense of sound politics struck, as it were, a false, chilling note."

WAR ON TWO FRONTS.

The war chief roars and the warriors yell,
And evil tom-toms, ere break of day,
Forecast the scene of a raging hell.
With assagais, knives and clubs they slay—
And know not why. Then the wily head,
In cold calculation, and unappalled,
Takes stock of the living and the dead,
And decrees a respite shall be called
Until the lads of the land attain
A warrior's age. Then, alas! The command
Of the bloodthirsty chief is heeded again—
I speak of a savage Dark Continent land.

Youth is goaded with fear and hate
And, under a stern pastmaster's eye,
Learns to demolish, assassinate—
And goes to a meaningless war to die.
An armistice comes. And dead heroes' sons
Grow up with hopes of world peace in view,
But builders of ships and planes and guns—
The ruthless war lords—are planning anew
Their ghastly scheme (with the truth concealed).
When the timely sought-for insult is hurled,
Again youth is forced to the battlefield—
I am speaking now of the Christian world.

Letter from a Soldier.

Dear Linemaster: Soon I'll be leaving this grand old town with my outfit, the 131st infantry, for a year in Tullahoma, Tenn. I couldn't go without having my say, even in verse. So I give you "Thoughts on Being Inducted."

The verses describe a walk around his neighborhood, Clark street on the near north side. The following lines will serve as a sample:

'Twas as a movie's final reel:
"The condemned man ate a hearty meal."
For this it was: My last, long look,
Then to the armory myself I took.

Actually, I find it harder to leave this, my adopted home, than I did to leave my real home town. It grows on one, this city. At night I can see the skyline with the floodlights playing over the Wrigley building and the huge beacon sweeping over the city. That's from the Palmolive building, I believe. I'm going to miss the boys here at the Hubbard hotel, all the old time "carneys" and vaudeville artists who are still living in dreams and talking about the old days. . . . This was formerly the Revere house, most famous of its kind. There's tradition here and the ghosts of many old timers, some now famous, are stalking right thru these ancient halls.

Well, that's an obsession of mine and of no interest to you. Cheerio and good luck.

Ralph Holtz.

TULIPS IN BLOOM.

Today my yellow tulips bloomed,
And this is only February.
They're some I planted way last fall
And left outside till January.
And then, with all the warmth and light
They found in my "conservatory,"
(It's nothing but my kitchen shelf)
They burst into a yellow glory!

There may be dirty winter snow
Outdoors, wherever eye can follow;
There may be tears inside my house,
There may be days too drab and hollow;
But I won't know these things are there,
And sorrow will be temporary,
As long as yellow tulips bloom
As sweet as spring in February.

A Statesman from Tin Pan Alley.

Shortly after the turn of the century Sol Bloom, now our supermilitant chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, was a song publisher in Chicago's Tin Pan Alley, on Randolph street. He published my first popular [so-called] song! Of course, that was some years after Bloom won a bit of notoriety as manager of "Little Egypt" at the Columbian Exposition. T. C. C.

I know now why Roosevelt wouldn't meet Willkie in a debate. He couldn't talk for laughing.

INFLUENZA—GO TO BED AND RECOVER.

THE common cold, which is always with us, is not influenza. Furthermore—as we all know—a nasal, throat, or bronchial infection may be more severe with one individual than with another. While the "flu" may begin much like a coryza—if it has its way—generalized pains will appear thruout the body, with weakness, fever, and marked prostration.

All attacks are not alike. In fact, there is scarcely a disease so uncertain in its manifestations or that is attended with so many sideshows. Moreover, its behavior may vary from year to year and from season to season. Unfortunately, one bout does not confer immunity. Not only will relapses occur, with the victim passing promptly thru the same series of symptoms, but—after two or three months—another siege may be ushered in because of a drop in resistance.

The typical bronchial irritation, with cough and expectoration, may not be experienced. With some patients the trouble will center in the digestive tract, with vomiting, discomfort everywhere, and a feeling of malaise quite out of proportion to the degree of fever. A few will resemble acute food poisoning; others, appendicitis. Then, again, the bowel may be involved with profuse diarrhea and aching "all over."

The first symptom, in many instances, is a sore throat, and nothing affords greater relief than frequent irrigations with warm to hot salt water. With the patient in bed, the head may be inclined over the side and a glass irrigating tube from a two quart container be allowed to play over the inflamed surfaces, like a fireman's hose.

As we realize full well, pneumonia must be guarded against. But we can regard the pneumococcus as an interloper that takes advantage of the prostrated state of the victim. The air of the sickroom should be filled with moisture, possibly impregnated with menthol or tincture of benzoin compound. Debility may be counteracted by generous quantities of foods and liquids. Heavy meals are not desired, but two hour feedings of small snacks will be digested readily.

As a rule, convalescence comes within two to five days if the patient has been under good management. But we must not forget that the heart and other vital organs have been depressed—perhaps injured—and the ability to stage a comeback depends upon taking plenty of time before plunging into the full responsibility of one's job. No one should be allowed to sit up in bed, even with a backrest, until the temperature has been normal for 24 hours. Even then the interval must be short—one-half hour two or three times during the day. A trip to the bathroom, during the acute stage, may be regarded as a cordial welcome to pneumonia. Warmth, particularly to the extremities, must be supplied routinely.

Nearly 10 per cent of our cases, so far this year, have suffered from an unusual type of weakness, from which recovery has been slow. We can't hurry nature, and there is no justification in developing a false sense of strength by means of tonics. If the hemoglobin of the blood has been lowered, iron will be necessary. But stimulants to make one feel better temporarily are never advised.

We must recall that we are dealing with a tricky ailment—one that is seeking every vulnerable spot in the human armor. It dislikes to be conquered and will linger for weeks if it can find a suitable retreat.

Nowadays physicians understand pretty well the importance of drugs of the sulfanilamide group, which perhaps accounts for the fact that we have had fewer pneumonias than we would expect under prevailing conditions.

Perhaps slightly. Not a great difference until after this age. A skilled obstetrician will supply a safe conduct.

HEREDITY AND THE MENTALLY ILL.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—As a former mental patient who recovered his health in consequence of shock treatment received at the Psychiatric Institute of the Illinois Research hospital, 1819 West Polk street, I wish to take issue with Prof. Strandskov's statements in his contribution to the Voice of the People of Feb. 11. Prof. Strandskov pleads for action to "reduce the number of individuals who are eligible for admission to such state institutions." While the author refrains from mentioning the precise method of such a reduction, it is safe to assume that what he has in mind is sterilization.

I do not claim authority to speak of such topics as heredity in mental disease and the merits and demerits of sterilization. But I do claim the authority to speak in behalf of the former mental patients, their aims and aspirations. My authority is based on the fact that I am a member of Recovery, the association of former patients of the Illinois Psychiatric institute. This association is now in its fourth year and has proved its amazing vitality by the sheer fact of its survival in a stigma infested world.

This is not the place to list the accomplishments of our unique organization which is the only one of its kind in the world, and a tribute to the progressive spirit of Illinois in general and the Psychiatric institute in particular. But let me state it as the considered opinion of the former patients organied in Recovery that the suggestion to "reduce the number" of patients in state institutions is one of the aims of our organization. However, our method is not surgical and mutilating, but rather social and humanitarian. Our method aims at keeping the recovered patients in good mental health and at preventing relapses.

It is our proud boast that we have done a good job in this direction and that we kept many of our members from returning to the crowded mental institutions by helping them preserve their initiative, self-respect, and self-confidence. This was done without cost to the taxpayer, the monthly budget of $250 being covered by dues and voluntary contributions. Unfortunately none of the state hospitals of Illinois has as yet followed our example. We hope they will soon do so. And if, in the meantime, Prof. Strandskov wishes to do his share in "reducing the intramural population of these institutions" we invite him to study our methods and to help us introduce them in all the state hospitals. TEST.

Glen Ridge, N. J., Feb. 10.—The communists, Socialists, fellow travelers, and their sympathizers should demonstrate that their theories will work and bring about the results claimed for them before they destroy the economy of 130,000,000 people and upset their system of government. Let the communists say how large a community is really necessary for a demonstration. Do they need 10,000, 100,000, or 500,000 people, all ready and willing to join in the experiment?

Their ideas are not new; they go back at least 2,000 years. But when and where, in all that time, has communism or Socialism been shown to be workable? The communists and Socialists owe it to the rest of us to prove the practicability of their theories. JAMES EMERY BROOKS.

REVEILLE.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—I see by today's TRIBUNE that we are due to have a bit of controversy on the reveille subject.

I wish to thank "Ex-Marine" for an enlightening letter. So that's how they do it in the marine corps, eh? Well, as far as the army is concerned we sound no call of any sort until 5:45 a. m. There is no call known as "roll call" and in the United States army there is no call to the colors until 5 p. m., at which time retreat is sounded and the flag is run down.

I may be wrong, but for the last five years I have been getting up to the strains of first call at 5:45 and have heard the reveille gun go off promptly at 6 a. m. and the sounding of this gun accompanies only the raising and lowering of the flag.

As to our esteemed leatherneck's crack about my finding out for myself, until Nov. 15, 1940, my entire name and address was: SERGT. WILLIAM C. ABBOTT.

INCONSISTENCIES.

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 11.—Can some one tell me what noble motive prompts our administration to "loan" to the Chinese democrats millions of dollars to purchase war supplies from Britain and us, and at the same time allow almost daily shipments of gasoline, scrap iron, and recently, a large quantity of shell-making machine tools to go to Japan?

Why should President Roosevelt insist on "loaning" our vital defenses to England and at the same time allow shipments of every conceivable war supply to Russia, which is assumed to reach Germany in large amounts?

It looks to me as if the invasion of Poland was only a weak excuse to start this huge and inhuman money making business, and it won't be the average American citizen who gains.

I suggest that all exports of war materials and lethal weapons be stopped, and then we might see the whole of this bloody business fold up. A. J. B.

REPLY TO DR. DE LEE.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Would Dr. De Lee deliver a home case? In answer to Dr. De Lee I would like to make a few statements about home obstetrics. There may be many mothers who can safely deliver their babies at home, but there isn't one good obstetrician who will take a home delivery. There are few women who enjoy being manhandled by amateurs. There are few intelligent women who wish to have a laceration repaired the next day by the "wrecking crew" on the kitchen table without an anesthetic. There are very few women brave enough to face delivery without the prospect of some anethetic relief.

Something must have happened to Dr. De Lee. DR. V. F. T.

CALENDAR REFORM.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—The President moved Thanksgiving day back one week. He moved one year forward France and England's declaration of war. Bill 1776 purports to set back the millennium 1,000 years. Stalin, Mussolini, Hitler never made such moves. Don Quixote did.

4. What can the owner do legally?

2 HONEYMOONERS AND HITCH-HIKER KILLED IN CRASH

Car and Transport Truck Collide in Indiana.

A Chicago couple returning from a honeymoon in New York City and a hitchhiker whom they had given a ride were killed last night when their car skidded on the Lincoln highway a mile east of Hamlet, Ind., struck the trailer of an approaching truck, and overturned. Hamlet is north of Knox, Ind.

The Chicagoans were Philip M. Schoolman, 20 years old, of 926 Gordon terrace, and his bride of two weeks, the former Pearl Sandburg, 22, of 2954 Sunnyside avenue. Schoolman, a premedical student at the University of Illinois, is the son of the late Dr. Edward N. Schoolman, psychiatrist. Mrs. Schoolman was a graduate of Northwestern university. The hitchhiker was identified from a social security card as Stanley M. Rower, 21, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The truck was driven by Clifford Eggers of Dayton, O., who was not injured. He was driving east and Schoolman west.

Dairy Truck Driver Killed.

The driver of a dairy truck was killed and two firemen were injured when the truck and a fire engine collided at 63d street and Kedzie avenue as the fire engine was en route to Chicago airport.

The truck driver was Wilbur Harder, 32 years old, 1753 West 63d street. The injured firemen are Lieut. Joseph Taylor, 42, and Fireman William Herbert, 51, of Company 64. The engine was answering a call to stand by at the airport while a plane with a faulty motor landed. A fireman told police the engine entered the intersection with the green light.

Eleanor Schroeder, 15, of 43 North Green street, Carpentersville, Kane county, was killed, and three others were injured in a collision in East Dundee. The injured are Berenice Schumacher, 26, the driver; her sister, Marilyn, 13, and Betty Wagner, 13. They were returning from church in Barrington when their car collided with one driven by Otto Nelson of Ingleside, Lake county. Nelson and his wife were injured slightly.

Injuries Are Fatal.

William N. Fisher, 67, of 1434 East Main street, St. Charles, a leader in Danish-American activities in the Fox river valley, died in Delnor hospital, Aurora, of injuries suffered in an auto accident Jan. 26 in St. Charles.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 114 persons had been killed in Cook county traffic since Jan. 1. Of these 92 died in Chicago, where 2,778 were injured in traffic during the same period.

WORK TO CROWN CONVENTION OF 12,000 DENTISTS

The reading of long technical papers will be held to a minimum at the 77th annual four-day midwinter meeting of the Chicago Dental society opening today in the Stevens hotel.

Instead, the 12,000 dentists from thruout the nation will attend clinics affording personal observation of new operating techniques, and see motion pictures depicting the latest methods of dental surgery, and crown, bridge and full mouth reconstruction. Thirty-six instructors will offer courses on every phase of dentistry.

The contribution of the dental profession to national defense will be discussed this afternoon at a meeting of the society's committee on dental preparedness. Special courses for Dental Reserve officers of the United States navy will be held in connection with the convention.

Officers of the American Dental association convened yesterday at the Hotel Knickerbocker. Dr. Wilfred H. Robinson of Oakland, Cal., president, presided.

NORWOOD PARK VOTE TO RECEIVE COURT APPROVAL

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki said yesterday he would approve the election Saturday by which residents of a section of Norwood Park township voted by a narrow margin for annexation to Chicago. The vote was 243 for annexation; 237 against. After approval by Judge Jarecki, the matter then must be passed upon by the city council. The area is bounded by Montrose avenue, Oriole avenue, Ozanam avenue, and Irving Park road.

PRINTERS TO ASK A STIFF TAX ON RADIO STATIONS

Charge They Are Hard Hit by Advertising Shift.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 16 [Special].—Representatives of the printing trades, in session here for the past week, called radio a menace to their livelihood and announced today they will ask congress to impose high taxes on radio revenues and restrict the issuance of station licenses.

John B. Haggarty, president of the International Allied Printing Trades council [A. F. of L.], said a five year study showed such legislation was necessary to counteract the inroads of the radio into revenues of newspapers and other industries in which his men are employed.

The radio cost his union 25,000 jobs, he added.

The Council's Demands.

The council, he said, will ask, first, that congress permit the Federal Communications commission to issue licenses for radio stations only to persons residing in the community where the station will operate and, second, that stations be permitted to devote only 25 per cent of their time on the air to commercial programs.

These proposals, together with demands for direct taxation of the radio industry, will be backed by the printing trades which employ 200,000 workers, and Haggarty will ask 15,000 publishers and printing executives to join the campaign.

The council's study revealed, he said, that whereas the radio took 2 cents of each dollar spent for all advertising in 1929, it had increased its share to 35 cents on the dollar last year. From 1930 to 1938, the stations were shown to have increased from 25 per cent to 40 per cent the proportion of commercial programs, and the chains were producing 90 per cent commercials.

Offers Income Figures.

Haggarty said 519 radio stations with an investment of $28,819,000 showed a profit of $18,206,000 in 1939—approximately 63 per cent. He said Columbia Broadcasting company, on an investment of $1,600,000, declared dividends of $3,000,000 in the last five years. National Broadcasting company, he said, had shown profits of $22,319,000 since its founding on an original investment of $3,300,000.

Haggarty warned that the new type of radio broadcasting called frequency modulation is a threat to his industry, saying:

"At present there are less than 800 stations on the air and it is not possible to have more than 1,000 standard stations. But frequency modulation may bring 8,000 stations into existence, each having a broadcast radius of 100 miles or so. Frequency modulation today is an experiment which later may strike at the very heart of local advertising."

FIRE DRIVES 30 TO STREET.

Fire did an estimated $400 yesterday to a six apartment building at 3708 Ainslie street and drove 30 persons to the street.

4 SHOT IN TAVERN BRAWL; 1 KILLED; 13 HELD FOR QUIZ

Thirteen persons were held for questioning yesterday after four persons were shot, one fatally, in a brawl in the Silver Inn tavern, 2014 Blue Island avenue, at 4:30 a. m. The dead man is Joseph Sluga, 2225 South Wood street, a cousin of Joseph M. Sluga, the tavern owner.

Those held include the tavern owner, a bartender in the place, three patrons, three musicians, and five other men seized later in the day. Police are searching for a man known as "Tilly," who, witnesses said, did the shooting.

The witnesses said the brawl resulted from a quarrel a week ago in the same place between "Tilly" and Chester Keska, 22, of 1525 West 17th street. Keska was beaten during another quarrel that immediately preceded the shooting. The witnesses said that "Tilly," during the height of a quarrel between friends of the two men, leaped upon a radiator and started shooting.

The three wounded men are Casimer and Andrew Hryndza, brothers, of 2210 South Damen avenue, and Henry Leja, 1744 West 21st place.

Gun Club Member Found Shot to Death on Road

Abner E. Handschy, 51 years old, 1644 West 106th street, owner of a printing ink concern, was found shot to death yesterday in 86th street near 131st street, Palos Park township. His body was lying behind his car. A shotgun lay at his side. Willow Springs highway police were told by Handschy's daughter, June, that he was a member of the Palos Park Trap and Gun club, half a mile south of where he was found. They said he may have been on his way to the club and stopped for a shot at a rabbit when the gun was discharged accidentally.

Good Morning!

Colorful technically and as to personalities is the Chicago's new feature.

Directed skilfully by the man who, with Virginia Van Upp, wrote the story, the film unreels as a study of the Virginia and Virginians of today. It is a tale of tradition which flowers persistently and bitterly in the hearts of descendants of the old south and it seemed to this onlooker that the authors' sympathy was all with the folk to whom Yankees are still "damyankees" and all their ways anathema as contrasted with the charm and goodness which characterize the former. . . .

The heroine, Charlotte Dunterry, Virginia born, fails in show business on Broadway and returns home penniless to the old family plantation—a wreck which has been kept together somehow or other by two old family retainers. These provide for her till she learns that to be southern and a lady is better than to be northern and a heel—or something like that.

The two men who love the beauteous creature [and she IS beauteous!] are Dr. Stonewall Elliott, who lives with his cousin and adorable small daughter [Carolyn Lee, who's the only real runnerup that old, old lady, Shirley Temple, has ever had!] on HIS rundown estate which, nevertheless, he works—and Norman Williams, a rich and not particularly likable northerner who has bought himself a Virginia home and settled in those parts to live—and be hated. . . . Mrs. Elliott is running around over in Europe being a bad, bad girl. . . .

Charlotte had planned to sell her place to a weird and decadent Mrs. Potter [northern]. But her heart belongs to Elliott, who imbues her with his ideas. . . . Mrs. Elliott? Well, we'll let the picture tell you about her, for there's quite a bit of suspense built up around this "gallant, mixed up little lady."

Characters are all spicily portrayed. The color photography is gorgeous. Miss Carroll and Fred MacMurray make a fine team, and little Miss Lee scores every time she opens her mouth or bats an eye. . . . They tell me that Stirling Hayden is Hollywood's current heart throb. My pulse missed no beats as I contemplated him. . . . Tom Rutherford portrays sadly a gin sodden Virginian who's that way because, apparently, he's taken up with the awful Mrs. Potter and her sort. . . .

The film packs quite a bit of excitement and some pathos.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 16.—Sunday—A morning of work, and in the afternoon to pick up R. Terry and to Mike Romanoff's place to bat one over. Mike seems a little surprised that he's still in business—but he is. The place is becoming a hot spot, and this country's most fabulous phony prince is now weighted with responsibilities of management and hosting. He says he opened with $4 cash, but enough people bought on opening night to pay a couple of bills and the profits have steadily crept up. Soon he hopes to have enough money to furnish the big dining room, which is now curtained off from the bar. . . . With the Robert Sisks and Hunt Lewises to a charity cocktail party at the Beverly Hills hotel. Sisk, who is producing Ginger Rogers' "Tom, Dick, and Harry," will do Molnar's "The Play's the Thing" for Charles Laughton.

Monday—At the desk all day, so there's nothing of import except the story about Ginger Rogers' conference with Director Garson Kanin. Kanin had asked Miss R. to come in and talk over the new movie. From the still department he got more than 200 pictures of Ginger, at all stages of her career, and put them on the walls and his desk. He even covered up a couple of cherished portraits of Katharine Hepburn. Miss Rogers came in and didn't crack once. After a half hour of torture Kanin said, "Don't you notice anything?" "Yes," answered Ginger, "you need a haircut."

Tuesday—To Columbia for a tour of the stages. Jane Withers is working in "Her First Beau" and it's her first loanout from 20th Century-Fox, and Mother Withers is right there as always. Jane, by the way, is driven to and from work by a Zanuck chauffeur in a Fox station wagon, and I wonder whether Zanuck or Harry Cohn buys the gas. I bet Cohn doesn't. . . . I meet Franchot Tone and tell him he has my vote for the lead in "For Whom the Bell Tolls," but he says he's not a candidate. "Gary Cooper is the perfect one for that," he says. . . . I stop to watch Nan Grey do a highly emotional closeup for "Under Age." Innocently mixed up in a blackmail ring, she's being third degreed and weeping her denials. It's a bang-up job, too. . . . In the evening as John Larkin's guest to a dinner at the West Side Riding and Asthma club, and very pleasant. Frank Morgan, Alan Mowbray, Jimmy Gleason, Milt Gross, Jerry Horwin, Pay McNutt, and many others there.

Wednesday—The regular long day at the mill and in the evening to the Warners' preview of "Strawberry Blonde." I like it a lot; Jim Cagney is excellent and Olivia De Havilland is the surprise of the picture. The preview itself is a grand party. A huge stage has been converted into a gay '90s beer garden and after dinner there are several old time song and dance acts. In the audience, and called on to take a bow, is Frankie Bailey—THE Frankie Bailey. She came unescorted, I'm told. She's a handsome old lady with beautiful eyes; she sits erect, but she has a cane to help the legs that once were the most famous in the United States.

Thursday—To Universal for a look at the Frank Lloyd, Gregory La Cava, and René Clair productions, and I'll do a column on them. I'm fascinated by Marlene Dietrich in her lovely 19th century New Orleans wedding gown—and by the nerveless immobility with which she stands before the camera a quarter hour while the lights are being set. Then, when everything's ready, she moves. She is handed a lipstick and mirror, which she holds under her white veil as she carefully makes up her mouth. It's the longest, most accurate job of lipsticking I ever saw this side of the Stork club—and better, because Dietrich doesn't make faces while doing it. . . . Lunch with Theron Bamberger, who's getting ready for another season at his Bucks county, Pa., playhouse. Only play set so far is "George Washington Slept Here," but Bamby would like to do "The Man Who Came to Dinner." . . . To Metro for the "Trial of Mary Dugan" preview. It's a good remake of a classic whodunit, and young Laraine Day is becoming a very able actress.

Friday—Only nine holes of golf before a veritable Louis Bromfield rain comes to stay. So over to Lucey's and lunch with R. Sisk, H. Benedict, and L. Marcus.

Saturday—More rain. O, well, it ain't snow and there are things to do at the desk. In the evening to the Warner club's annual dinner, highlight of which is the movie showing all the spoiled takes of the year.

Red for Spring; That's Fashion Edict on Color

BY REA SEEGER.

The most exciting color promotion for spring is red! Triumphantly visible for blocks in gay hats, in swanky bags, and in gloves. It's the color to pick out the smartness of slim navy blue or black costumes. Later red will add spice and dash to beige, copper, cadet blue, and Quaker gray clothes. Small red hats lead the fashion parade but huge straw cartwheels are already on display.

Red coats to shame anything the British ever wore are the brightest things in town. There are many that fit in round the waistline then flare widely around the hem. Sleeves are long and straight and the belts are usually of the red wool tied softly in a bow.

Red tweed coats and capes of wool, rough in texture, make stunning contrasts for the first spring suits of dark colors. Red linen and silk coats have been promised for summer, to be worn over summer chiffons, linens, and cotton prints.

Red also makes the footlines . . . pumps, street and afternoon models, sandals, oxfords, and walking shoes all come in many different shades of red. Suede, fabrics, and leathers are particularly effective in spring red. One new shade called "heart beet" is just what it sounds, the color of spring beets.

Smooth, flexible kidskins and alligator skins are available in this stunning shade. Bags, belts, and gloves are expertly matched in shade so that costume accessory blending is as easy as should be. For the shoppers who wince over too flaming a red, this heart beet color is perfect. It's a cool red with blue undertones, it goes with tweeds as well as with dress parade clothes. The best news is that hosiery to match is in the same smart shoe shop.

Miss Ballard, a member of the Chicago Junior league, made her debut in the fall of 1938 and is a tall and striking blonde well known to charity fashion show audiences. She attended the North Shore Country Day school and was graduated from Pine Manor junior college.

Mr. Cherry attended Lake Forest academy and was graduated from Yale university in 1939. He was a member of St. Elmo and also of the Glee club and "Whiffenpoofs." The wedding is planned for the early fall—or sooner, should Miss Ballard's brother, Roger Jr., be called into active service as an ensign in the Naval Reserve after he receives his commission in June.

Mrs. Tourtelot Injured; Retains Role in Follies.

Mrs. Edward M. Tourtelot Jr., who is leading lady of the Country Club of Evanston's Follies and author of some of the music, is a good sport, too. A fall on skates that gave her a painfully cut nose last Saturday won't keep her from her place in the spotlight and behind scenes at the presentation of this original show next Friday night. This news is especially welcome to her co-workers, for the accident occurred when pretty Mrs. Tourtelot was doing her bit to help the show with publicity by posing for skating pictures.

"Date at Eight" is both the name and the theme of the current edition of the Follies. The show will see a boy and girl singing thru an evening spent touring night clubs, including stops at an Hawaiian spot and an Argentine club. Singing opposite Mrs. Tourtelot as the "boy" will be Francis Fabian Jr.

Almost all the songs and acts have been written by members of the cast. Mrs. Fabian wrote the closing number, "There's a Star Out" and Mrs. Tourtelot is responsible for "The Man in the Band" number, which will be sung by Miss Helen Forsyth and Bud Wilson.

Mrs. C. Hunter Lindsay is director of the show, assisted by Ralph Matthews. Mrs. William Sennott Jr. is supervising the costumes, William Porter Sullivan, the music, and Mrs. Bingham Van Dyke, the chorus.

Central Nursing Council Luncheon to Be Today.

Members of the staff assistance corps of the American Red Cross in Chicago wearing their yellow uniforms will assist in seating guests at the annual luncheon meeting of the Central Council for Nursing Education at 12:15 o'clock today at the Palmer House. Miss Mary Beard, national director of the American Red Cross Nursing Service in Washington, D. C., will speak on "The Meaning of Home Defense."

Mrs. Arthur C. Bachmeyer, chairman of the council, will preside at the meeting. Among those who have reserved tables are Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. Eugene Talbot, Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, Mrs. Frank P. Hixon, Mrs. John T. Gary and Mrs. David Wilson Graham. The ushers, serving under Mrs. Gordon Lang, include Miss Margot Atkin, chairman of the staff assistance corps; Mrs. Carrington Clark, Mrs. Ernest A. Hamill II., Mrs. Peter de Coningh and Mrs. Philip W. Dodd. An election of officers will follow the meeting.

The Chicago Council on Foreign Relations has announced a luncheon address on "Australia: Arsenal of the Pacific" next Thursday at the Palmer House. Carroll Binder will be the speaker. He will discuss what Australasia is doing in the war, the strategy of Singapore to the Australian area and what Australians and New Zealanders think about the United States, and what coöperation they would like to get from this country. Mr. Binder left New Zealand Feb. 3.

French refugees in England will receive the proceeds from the International Theater's first "Petit Lundi" of the current season today at the Goodman theater. Three one-act plays in French will be presented this afternoon under the direction of Georges Cauuet. Raymond Imbault-Huart, consul general of France, and Mme. Imbault-Huart, Mrs. Alden B. Swift, the Rene Weillers, Mrs. Laird Bell, Mrs. Thomas Hinde, and Mrs. Richard Bentley are among those who have taken tickets for the performance.

Mr. and Mrs. William Alden Little [Dorothy Dickinson] yesterday became the parents of a second son, Richard Stirling, born at St. Luke's hospital. The baby's grandparents are the Alden H. Littles and the Francis R. Dickinsons.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Purdy III. are receiving congratulations on the birth of their first child, a son, at the Presbyterian hospital on Feb. 13. He has been named John Dean Purdy IV. Mrs. Purdy is the former Marjorie Clark. The baby's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin Clark of Hinsdale. His paternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. John D. Purdy Jr.

Mrs. Francis Beidler Departs for Palm Beach.

Mrs. Francis Beidler and her granddaughters, Didi and Ann Marie Carton, left for Palm Beach, Fla., last Saturday to join the Robert Cartons for a two months' holiday. The junior Mr. and Mrs. Beidler and the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Chapman, are at the resort.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Welles are in Boca Grande, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Pool have been in Naples, Fla., since early in February and plan to stay there another month.

Mrs. Harry B. Clow and her daughters, Miss Marion and Miss Helen, are leaving today for a six weeks' vacation in Palm Springs, Cal. They will return to Chicago on April 1.

An election of officers will be held at the annual meeting of the Woman's Symphony Orchestra association today at the Woman's Athletic club. Mrs. Charles W. Wrigley, first vice president of the group, will preside in the absence of the president, Mrs. James G. Shakman, who is vacationing in Central America.

Rehearses for Evanston Follies

Chicago Folk Numerous at Bellaire, Fla.

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

Belcair, Fla., Feb. 16 [Special].—On the afternoon of our arrival at this delightful resort on the west coast of Florida the first person we saw at the pool was Mrs. John V. Farwell III., of Chicago, who, with Mr. Farwell, was having a day of relaxation. The Farwells are making an annual three week motor tour which gives little time for play, for they visit every southern city of any size during the short time.

They had broken their business trip first for a brief visit with the Edward Berminghams at their plantation in Alabama; then they had stopped at Belleair for a one day vacation; and before they return to Chicago they will go to Sea Island, Ga., for another day of rest. From Belleair they were going to Hollywood, Fla., to join Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gross, who are there for a couple of weeks before going on to Nassau, the Bahamas, for a whirl.

The Farwells found time to drive down the beach to the charming little house the Spencer Logans are occupying this winter. It is at Indian Rocks, which is just south of Belleair. The Farwells will have their real vacation later in the season when they take their son and daughter to a ranch near Tucson, Ariz., for the Easter holidays. Mr. Farwell's father, Arthur Farwell, is spending the winter in Tucson.

The Belleview Biltmore is filled with easterners, but there are enough Chicagoans here to make one feel at home. Judge and Mrs. Kenesaw Mountain Landis are here for their annual stay of several months, and Mr. and Mrs. David Yates, and Mr. and Mrs. John McKinlay will be here on Feb. 21 for their regular winter vacation.

The Bert Leonard Atwaters just have left after two weeks here, but they plan to return after their visit in Miami Beach is concluded. Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Dawes are here for an indefinite period and so are the Morton Mavors and the Howard S. Hiltons. Mr. and Mrs. Philip R. Clarke are coming on Feb. 24.

James Melton, famous tenor, and his wife left on Saturday after a vacation spent here. Mrs. Arnold S. Kirkeby gave a farewell dinner for them the night before at a Spanish

Who Is This Girl?

SYNOPSIS.

Dan McCullough, manager of the ranch San Mateo, falls in love with Storm, whom he meets at the New York apartment of Harp Greenlee, owner of the ranch. Dan has come east to tell Harp and his lawyer, Steele Dunlap, that he needs money to fight Humphrey Dane, who is trying to shut off the ranch's water supply. When Beatrice Abney, whose artist ex-husband is drinking himself to death near San Mateo, tells Mac that Storm is living at Harp's apartment and that Harp says she is his niece, Mac is upset, as he knows Harp has no nieces and has been entangled with many women of shady character. He decides to have it out with Harp as to just who Storm is, but when he goes in to talk to him he finds Harp dead. Storm tells Mac that she knows she is not Harp's niece, but she doesn't know who she is. When she was a small child after her mother died Harp placed her in a convent and just recently got her out, promising to tell her on her 21st birthday who she was. She is now 20. Harp wills Storm San Mateo and a locked tin box without a key, but when Dunlap hints to Storm that it was Harp's way of paying off his latest girl friend, she becomes infuriated, refuses the inheritance and goes back to the convent. Mac trails her there but Mother Regina tells him a man claiming to be Storm's father had come to the convent two days before and Storm left with him. She refuses to tell Mac the man's name. Mac learns that Dunlap has flown to San Mateo, and follows him. The people at the ranch tell Mac that Humphrey Dane has taken over there. Determined to protect Storm's rights, Mac goes over to demand an explanation from Dane. On the way he is delayed, rescuing Francis Abney from drowning and delirium tremens.

LOST FATHER.

INSTALMENT XXXI.

Thin smoke was coming out of Abney's mud chimney, and he saw wood piled on the porch, and the tracks of tires showed that Lank had been there already. He tied the mare to the leaning fence of mesquite poles and opened the door to a smell of frying meat and boiling coffee.

Abney was sitting, gray faced and spent, in a crude chair covered with goatskin. He still wore the faded bathrobe, his feet were clad in rundown slippers, thrust out to the fire. But he was completely sober and the old sardonic, bitter look was again riding his pinched features.

"I gave orders for you to stay in bed," Mac said, without preamble.

"So, the raven returns?" Abney grinned without humor. "My man Dromio tells me you fished me out of the arroyo last night. Am I supposed to be grateful or damn you for a meddling fool?"

"Depends on the point of view," Mac said. "I just rode past that place. Plenty of water now if you feel the urge to go back. You didn't break any bones, I see."

"I ache like the devil. Whom do I thank for the grub?"

"Thank Mom Terrell. And she'll bless you out plenty the next time she sees you for not coming down to San Mateo when you got out of supplies. This is supposed to be a friendly country. We're neighbors."

"From what I learn from Dromio's difficult idiom, the neighbor situation is now definitely complicated. What happens now, if it's not an impertinence to inquire?"

"I'm riding to Dane's now to find out. I don't know how it's going to work out."

"Except that without doubt it will work out to the advantage of Humphrey Dane. I was quite adequately boiled last night, wasn't I? I must have been a damned nuisance. Thanks for carrying on. But I can't help thinking that if a lot of soft hearted people would restrain their magnanimous impulses, my problem might be solved."

"Your problem, maybe. But the soft hearted people would have had a nasty job this morning, salvaging what the coyotes left of you. And the ground is freezing. Uncomfortable time to have to bury a man. You need kicking, Abney, and I'm promising myself the lingering sweetness of doing it some time—and kicking a dead man isn't done. Just a local prejudice against it."

"You're a confoundedly impudent young squirt, Mac. I don't know why I like you, but I do. If you give Hump Dane a poke in the eye I'll go your bail—or I would if I owned a thing worth a damn, besides my horse."

"That horse saved your life last night. Better treat him well."

"The ravens from San Mateo also donated a jag of hay. When I do the murals for some splendid horror of a postoffice, I'll pay my debt."

"You'd never finish the murals. You'd start bucking around when you got half thru and kick holes in them. That's why I'm saving up for the day when I can boot your posterior around a couple of half sections. Stick close to this fire. You got a heavy chill last night."

Mac rode away, feeling a little glow. Francis Abney was worth saving. He was glad he had sent that wire to Beatrice this morning. Loneliness, remorse, perhaps, combined with his own temperamental weakness, had frustrated Abney, threatened to destroy him.

What genius he had was wasting, as he wasted his body and the curious, satiric brilliance of his mind. There might be a chance for him yet, but here an uneasy doubt intruded. Beatrice Abney was a successful woman. And by his own stubborn and stiffening hurt, Mac knew how intolerable to a proud man could be the knowledge of a lesser success.

The wind blew more wildly as he rode back into the trail along the ridge. The dead grass flattened before it, and the sky bent sourly, torn and ugly, with lowering clouds of cold gray. But morose as it lay, the landscape was one of strange, savage beauty to his nostalgic eyes. Perhaps, because he was seeing these aloof hills, these reaches of untamed, arrogant land for the last time.

He bent into the wind, his hat brim flapping, and because of the scud of it he came abruptly on the mounted figure, posed so silently, so alone, upon the height of the rocky ridge.

The mare whinnied, gave a little nervous shiver and broke into a trot. The other horse, silhouetted against the wild sky, shrilled in answer. A palomino, with a blowing mane and tail of snow white.

McCullough's heart gave a hurting plunge and then almost ceased to beat.

A girl was riding that painted horse. Fair head bare, hair blowing around her face.

Storm!

It was Storm—riding alone upon the hills of San Mateo! She turned and Mac saw her hesitate for a moment, then slowly she came toward him.

"Hello, Mac." Her tone was friendly, but grave, and her eyes withdrew a little. But the pure blue sparkle in her eyes was gone, she looked older, sobered, a little unhappy. The wind blew her hair across her face and she pushed it away with an absent gesture.

Mac said, breathlessly, "What are you doing here, Storm?"

"Why," her eyes widened, "I live here. Didn't they tell you? Didn't my father tell you?"

"I don't know your father."

"But, Mac—Humphrey Dane is my father."

"Dane?" Mac heard the astonished rising of his voice. "Humphrey Dane?"

"My name," she said, "isn't Storm Greenlee. It's Eleanor Dane. And Humphrey Dane is my father. I live over there"—she moved her gloved hand in a gesture toward the hills where the Dane ranch lay. Then she threw back her head and looked off toward the lowering horizon. "The wind—the wind is the same, isn't it? Now that I'm here again, I remember."

"Listen, Storm." All the wretchedness that had torn him was back again. Made more poignant, more intolerable by this amazing revelation. "Let's find a sheltered place where we can talk. I have to talk to you."

"Is there anything to talk about?" She was not yielding. She had not forgiven him.

"There's a great deal to talk about. You have to listen to me——"

"No," her face kept its quiet, set look. "I don't have to listen—but I will."

He spurred the mare and led the way, around a ragged scarp of chalky rock, the palomino following. On the lee side of a low mesa was a sheltered place, away from the scud of the wind. Mac slid from the saddle and helped Storm down. The horses stood patiently, humped against the blow.

"Sit here," he brushed the dirt from a flat rock with his hat. His depression was lessening. She was here. He had touched her hand. The gold of her hair shone from under a brown beret, a leather coat was buttoned up to her chin. And when she heard what he had to say—he plunged, recklessly. "Storm, I spent days looking for you in New York. I went to that school—and the sister told me that you had gone away with your father. I was trying to find you, to tell you how wrong you were—in what you believed about me."

"It doesn't matter, does it, Mac? You were wrong. I suppose a great many people were wrong, too. I was such a silly fool, I never thought what they might be believing. But now—it isn't important any more."

"It's important to me. I've been miserable ever since. Storm, who told you that you were Hump Dane's daughter?"

"He did. He came to the convent to take me home. He had proof. I am his daughter—I must be. I'm Eleanor Dane. I haven't got used to the name yet. He calls me Ellie—when he speaks to me at all."

"Then why——"

"Why was I at the convent—and in New York with Harp? He explained that. There was a quarrel—and my mother ran away."

restaurant in Tampa, where she lived when she was Miss Carlotta Cuesta.

Mrs. Kirkeby has a cottage on the Belleview grounds this winter and Mr. Kirkeby joins his pretty wife and their little son as often as business duties in Chicago permit. Mrs. Kirkeby, as Spanish as her maiden name would indicate, is the fashion plate of the resort and her clothes—daytime and evening ones—are the envy of all the other feminine guests.

The Norman J. Allbrights of Chicago, who are visiting Mrs. Allbright's parents, Capt. and Mrs. Hal T. Morrison, in Clearwater [just north of Belleair], entertained at dinner on Saturday night in the Belleview Country club, where indoor sports under bright lights are enjoyed.

Henry J. Topping, who has one of the Belleview cottages, had his son, the junior Mr. Topping, and his wife, formerly Gloria Baker, as his guests recently and he expects his other son, Dan Topping, and his wife [Sonja Henie] to arrive this week.

The Solomon A. Smiths have a house in Belleair not far from the hotel. This is their eighth winter around here, for they spent several seasons at the hotel, and last year they had a house in Dunedin, a few miles north of Belleair. They are expecting their daughter, Mrs. Scott Bromwell, to come from Lake Forest early in March, but none of their other children will be here this winter.

The young Sol Smiths are at Hobe Sound, on the east coast, now and the Edward Byron Smiths are in Washington on business. The other daughter, Mrs. George Chappell, and her children, Susie, George, and Barbara, are farther south, at Boca Grande, where they will be until mid-March.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gould Foote, who have a house across the road from the Belleview grounds, are expecting visits from some New York and Chicago friends later in the season, but just now they are enjoying life alone. Mrs. Foote was Mrs. William A. Alexander until she and Mr. Foote were married earlier this winter. Later in the winter the John Stuarts are coming to the hotel.

Red Cross activities are engrossing many of the women here, and on Feb. 26 there is to be a large bridge party for the benefit of the Red Cross fund in the hotel. Mrs. Ottilie H. Reilly of Chicago is in charge of the party.

Women buy more graham crackers than they used to before the days of graham cracker pies and refrigerator cakes. Once upon a time graham crackers were bought to keep the baby contented or to make sandwiches for pre-school children's afternoon lunches. Now they're a part of cupboard supplies even in homes where there never have been children.

To bake or not to bake a graham cracker pie crust is a little problem which perplexes many a housewife. Some recipes say bake, some don't recommend it. The advantage of baking, as I see it, is to produce a firmer crust which holds together better than the unbaked one. But it is a somewhat less tender crust than the crumbly one which comes from the refrigerator instead of the oven.

Graham Cracker Pie Crust.

1½ cups crushed graham cracker crumbs
⅓ cup confectioners' sugar
⅓ cup butter

Mix crumbs and sugar and work them into the butter which has been creamed until soft. Pat over bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate, pressing the mixture firmly with the fingers. Chill in the refrigerator, or bake 10 minutes at 350 degrees. Good for any kind of filling which doesn't have to be baked in the crust.

Graham Cracker Layer Cake.

[Two 9-inch layers]

½ cup butter
¾ cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten separately
3½ cups sifted graham cracker crumbs
3½ teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add beaten egg yolks and blend. Sift baking powder, salt and cracker crumbs together several times. Add in alternate portions with milk to creamed mixture, beating batter smooth after each addition. Add vanilla. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and pour into two greased and floured layer pans. Bake at 350 degrees for half an hour, or until done. Put layers together and frost with a butter cream icing. Or use whipped cream for filling and frosting. Sprinkle with chopped nuts if desired. A cup of chopped nuts may be added to the batter, too.

Peanut Brittle and Graham Cracker Icebox Cake.

[Serves six]

1 can [1¼ cups] sweetened condensed milk
3 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup ground peanut brittle
18 graham crackers, crushed

Stir lemon juice into milk until it thickens [don't try to use evaporated milk—it won't thicken] and add ground or coarsely crushed peanut brittle. Line a refrigerator tray or other fairly deep pan with waxed paper and cover the bottom with graham cracker crumbs. Spread a layer of filling over this, add another layer of cracker crumbs, and continue until ingredients are used, making the top layer of crumbs. Chill [not in freezing unit] overnight, or for 12 hours before serving. Slice and top each serving with whipped cream.

Feb. 17, 1941.

Universal day—This is a seven day, so slow down, take time to be thoro. A serious, quiet period for mental work.

Personal days—If your calendar of personal days in your chart gives this as a five day for you, and the advice for a five day is to make changes, to get out into the busy, competitive world with new ideas, and you see that the advice for the universal day suggests staying quietly at home, then you know that you cannot follow to the full extent the potentialities of your personal day. You might meet with the general dullness of the seven day and not get results. It would be better to pick out a five personal day for these things when the universal day was also in harmony for promoting and making quick changes, such as a five universal day, an eight or a one or three day.

Recital Proves Jussi Bjoerling Is on Upswing

BY CECIL SMITH.

In four seasons Jussi Bjoerling has developed from a virtually unknown young Swedish singer into one of this country's leading operatic tenors, with a successful career at the Chicago and Metropolitan Opera companies to his credit. His only solo recital of the year, at the Civic Opera house yesterday afternoon, indicated that his popularity is still on the upswing, for even tho the house was not entirely sold out, a very large audience regarded him with enthusiasm that bordered on adulation.

If there is a better voice anywhere in the younger generation of tenors, I have not heard it. The lower and middle registers are as full and round as those of a baritone, and the upper range is so easy for him that a high B-flat sounds as if there were another octave above it. While it is not one of the largest voices, it is one of the most satisfying, for nothing serious ever goes wrong with it.

Mr. Bjoerling has never seemed to possess the instincts of a great interpreter of music. He is more conscientious than imaginative, and more dependable than dynamic. But he sings his music as well as he possibly can, without attempting a kittenish approach toward his audience. Like that other notable Scandinavian, Kirsten Flagsted, he prefers to rest his case with his public entirely upon the solidity and earnestness of his endeavor.

His German songs, by Brahms and Wolf, were neither good nor bad. They lacked every kind of interpretative distinction except fidelity to the printed score. Later on, he warmed up more to a none too happily chosen group of Swedish songs, and to a group by Sibelius.

It was in operatic arias—from Puccini's "La Bohéme" and Verdi's "A Masked Ball" and "Rigoletto"—that he shone most brightly. His voice opened up handsomely, his style took on more character, and he drove the music home with real personal conviction.

At the same time he seemed to be hinting that he has his eye on Giovanni Mantinelli's rôles, some of which he already has sung. For he shows a growing tendency to push his voice to a point near the limit of its volume—a habit which sometimes overtaxes his breath support and creates a tremolo. And at moments—perhaps I was imagining things—the very timbre of his voice resembled Mr. Martinelli's. If my guess about his ambition is correct, he will do well to recall that Mr. Martinelli sang for many years as a lyric tenor before undertaking more vehement rôles.

By way of postscript, it may be to the point to suggest that Mr. Bjoerling learn to make use of the English language. After four years, during which he has been admirably financed by the American public, it would be a courteous gesture on his part to learn just one little song in the language of the people who support him.

CIVIC ORCHESTRA CONCERT

BY EDWARD BARRY.

It is one thing to play the standard symphonies correctly and with a reasonable amount of musical understanding, quite another to take a brilliant modern work and give it the virtuoso sweep without which it is largely meaningless. That the Civic orchestra is capable of the second feat as well as the first was proved in Orchestra hall yesterday when Hans Lange put his youthful charges thru no less an ordeal than a performance of Stravinsky's "Fire-Bird" Suite.

He must have used a little mesmerism on his players in order to give them the necessary confidence, for neither classes in ensemble playing nor the conventional sort of rehearsal is adequate preparation for dealing with such bizarre problems as this music poses. You must do more than play loud and in tune and in time. You must churn up a little inferno in yourself in order to externalize the infernal quality of the music.

The brass players, for example, did not play yesterday in the tentative fashion proper to young men and women who are preparing for jobs in a major symphony orchestra. They played with the confident punch characteristic of those who have held such jobs for decades and to whom technical problems have long been subservient to musical.

Let this not give the impression that the orchestra did nothing but blow the ceiling off in its dealings with the "Fire-Bird" music. The woodwinds did some very refined and evocative work in the suite's quieter episodes.

Speaking of the refined and the evocative, those were welcome little performances of Delius' "On Hearing the First Cuckoo in Spring" and "Summer Night on the River." Delius' cuckoo spoke with a taste and tonal suavity sadly lacking in the real animal. And in the second piece the river smells rose with a miasmal charm which was not ruined by any gaucherie on the part of the orchestra.

The program consisted otherwise of Schumann's Fourth Symphony, played with a caution that sometimes prevented the full rhapsodic flavor of the piece from coming thru, Lalo's ginger filled overture to "Le Roi d'Ys," and Strauss' youthful Serenade for Wind Instruments.

Unusual Crochet Medallion

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

For crochet workers looking for unusual medallions from which to create tablecloths or bedspreads, this cluster and mesh design is suggested as rapid, yet easy, work. Ivory mercerized crochet cotton is used for the tablecloth, while white bed cotton is suggested for the bedspread. Each medallion requires only a little time to create, and it is one of those "conversation pieces," at which the individual may work while talking.

For instructions in crocheting the mesh and cluster medallion, No. 870, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Front Views and Profiles
By June Provines

Florida Holiday.

It was pleasant being away, listening to the ocean pound on a silvery beach and to the sound of the wind in the palms; motoring to Key West after a fortnight of laziness, and to Sanibel and Captiva Islands off the west coast to see sea shells in fabulous number and variety. But it is pleasant to be home again, too. Our first activity after settling in at home was to visit a book store in search of a bird book with plates, in an attempt to classify the water fowl, as thick as city pigeons, along the Tamiami trail, and as unafraid of passing motors. Our second was to the Goya show at the Art institute, the fine print show, and the superb room of moderns from the Rosenberg collection. We're glad we don't have to choose permanently between—say, seeing a Goya show and picking up sea shells on Sanibel Island.

* *

Our cottage at Hobe sound, named Mariner [the cottages have such names as Sea Grape and Pelican and Lantana], was exactly 59 steps from the beach. We paced them off and counted. One looked out of the cottage windows straight to the sea, thru palm fronds and clumps of palmetto, and felt like a lone seaside dweller. But the beachhouse was in reality only a few yards away, and the buffet luncheon served there daily offered the soups and sea food, and salads and hot dishes, and sweets that a good club offers on club night. So the isolation was illusory but pleasant. The club luncheon was pleasant, too.

* *

While others complained about the intermittent rain and wind we happily read three Jane Austen novels in our seaside cottage. And after dinner at night worked on picture puzzles in the club lounge. There was always a big one, Joan of Arc on her charger with banners, or Peter the Great, with thousands of pieces spread out on a table. Most expert and indefatigable of the puzzle workers was a vacationing newspaper owner and publisher. Each day's final edition of his New York paper was flown to him that he might read it the same day, but he was too busy with the picture puzzle for more than a hasty look.

* *

Few wisecracks were garnered on the trip. But we now can identify a Scotch bonnet, a banded tulip, a fighting whelk, a sand dollar, a lace edged murex, and any number of sea shells. And, after studying the bird plates, we may know the difference between a white ibis and a white heron, and be able to identify water turkeys, blue herons, egrets, and cranes, which feed in flocks in waterways and marshes along the Tamiami trail between Miami and Tampa. . . . But tomorrow the nature lover again will become the purveyor of oddments and stories. There's the one about the truck driver who went to see Fantasia. . . .

Your Stars ★ Today ★
By WYNN

Monday, Feb. 17.

Today's vibrations call for seeing all we can of the true values; the tendency is to leap too emotionally at what we want, without proper or just means. Give the other fellow a break, too; don't yield to temptings to quarrel or shift scenery.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead challenges you to discharge added responsibilities, especially from past, without trying to escape thru hasty changes, if this is your birthday. Care in home, estate. Danger: May 1-14.

Way You Walk Is Indication of Your Good or Bad Humor

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

Do you whistle as you walk, grumble as you walk, swagger as you walk, mind your own business as you walk, or feel like a lost soul as you walk?

The way you walk is a true give-away of your character, poise, and personality.

You don't actually have to whistle, grumble, swagger, mind your own business, or feel like a lost soul while walking to let every one know you are in one of these moods. Your walk alone is sufficient cue to your feelings.

It's virtually impossible to whistle and not feel happy. While it might not be advisable to go along the street whistling, you can walk along in a whistling frame of mind. Hold up your chest. Lift up your head. Let your arms swing gracefully at your sides. Be ready with a friendly smile of greeting. Walk with your toes pointed straight ahead. Start on your heels, then spring lightly and gracefully to the balls of your feet.

Don't droop your shoulders and carry a discontented expression on your face as you walk. You'll look like a grumbler if you are one. Watch that you don't walk with a definite swagger or too haughty an air, as tho you resented the fact that people dared to speak to you and that you wish they would mind their own business. Last, but not least, don't walk with a shuffle, and with your eyes looking at the ground. If you do you'll have that sad, hang-dog expression so typical of the person who feels there isn't a friend in the world who cares a "hoot" about her.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

If each of the four players at a bridge table is dealt a fair and equitable share of high cards he will be able to count a shade better than two honor tricks. That is what is meant by the oft-heard phrase, "average hand."

Every bidding system worthy of the name is based on an average hand. In the Culbertson system minimum requirements for opening the bidding always have been two and one-half honor tricks, or "better than average." This minimum now is being reduced to two-plus honor tricks, but since a six card major suit is required with this reduced count it is obvious that a player will be able to produce additional playing tricks as compensation for the slight shading in honor tricks. Even the inclusion of a singleton in the honor trick table as a plus value will not broach one of the oldest rules in bridge, a survival from auction days, that the player who opens the bidding announces the possession of at least two defensive tricks.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Double	Redouble	1 spade
2 clubs	2 spades	3 clubs	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

West led three rounds of spades, declarer ruffing the last. Then a diamond was led and West ducked. Declarer properly continued diamonds and West made what was apparently a logical play. He took the ace of diamonds and led his last spade, hoping that if this were ruffed in dummy declarer would not be able to enter his hand without losing a trump trick.

This, however, was one of the myriad occasions in which close analysis would have paid a handsome dividend. South's previous ruff with the nine of hearts had marked him with the A-Q-J-10-9. West should have realized that South could, and would, return to his hand with a trump after ruffing the spade in the dummy.

Nothing could be done if declarer had the A-Q or A-J of clubs, but if his clubs were no better than A-10, only a little self-control on West's part was needed to stop the game. West should have ducked the second diamond!

Then declarer would have been helpless. The continuation of the diamonds would permit West to win and return the suit. And East would ruff, thus either winning the trick or establishing a trump trick for West.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The strange home ice jinx which the Chicago Blackhawks and the New York Americans exercise over each other was in evidence again in the Chicago Stadium last evening as the Hawks won their 17th game in their last 21 local engagements with the Broadway boys, 5 to 4, before a crowd of 13,146. The feud is becoming so warm that 10 minutes of overtime was required.

For a contest in which figure skating supplanted rugged hockey, notably in the checking department, the game was a fairly interesting one. The first minute of action was hardly satisfactory to young Wilf Field of the Americans. Just back from an injury layoff, Wilf was holding down his post at left defense on his own blue line, when his teammate, Murray Armstrong, dashed up behind him in the course of pursuing the puck, and unwittingly dashed Wilf to the ice. Field was taken to the Garfield Park hospital with a leg fracture above the right ankle.

A Trio of Heroes.

The Bentley brothers and newly come Joe Papike were the heroes of the evening, scoring the decisive goal after 8:20 of overtime play.

The Hawks thus scored their first victory in five games. It also presented them with a fourth place tie with the New York Rangers, each now boasting 34 points.

Not the least of reasons why the Hawks didn't do their job up in regulation time was Charley Rayner, who has been playing with the Americans for only two weeks. Rayner proved to be a highly unreasonable boy against the Hawks' best second and third period efforts.

Boll Ties It Up Again.

The customers were demanding scrambled eggs and sausage before they were excused, so intense was the scoring end of the battle. From a 1 to 1 first period, the Hawks took a 2 to 1 lead, but Armstrong tied it up in the third at 2 to 2, whereupon Max Bentley gave the Hawks what appeared to be the winning goal. Then with less than three minutes remaining, Buzz Boll tied the score for the Americans.

Here Johnny Chad, one of the bright young men unearthed last season by Manager Paul Thompson, wasted no more than eleven seconds of the overtime period to count what seemed to be the winning goal, with a nod to the astute Willie Thoms, who set up the scoring maneuver. Just to spoil everything, Lorne Carr of the Americans then rushed up to beat Sam Lo Presti, the Chicago goalie, with assistance from Pete Kelly and Boll. It looked then as tho the argument would end in a tie.

The Kids Do Their Stuff.

Here is where the Bentley kids and their new associate, the 26 year old Papike, went to work. Papike, who was called up for his first major league assignment last Thursday night, started the score with a blast at Rayner which Doug Bentley turned into the winning goal on a pass from Brother Max.

Phil Hergesheimer of the Hawks and Chuck Corrigan of the visitors provided the first period scores. Art Weibe beat Rayner in the second before Armstrong, his left eye bleeding, beat Lo Presti for the tying score in the third. Then followed the Max Bentley and Boll counts, also in the third session.

Scores 3 Goals in 57 Seconds to Set World Hockey Mark

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 16 (AP).—Bill Jennings, Indianapolis wing, broke a world's hockey scoring record tonight in an American league game when in the second period, he made three goals in 57 seconds against Hershey. The old record, made in 1938 by Carl Liscombe, then with the Detroit Red Wings, was three goals in a minute and 52 seconds. Indianapolis beat Hershey, 6 to 2.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chicago's open division fighters—172 strong—will launch their campaign for Golden Gloves tonight. At 7 o'clock the struggle will begin in the Coliseum. With action going on in two rings, the slugging will continue until 56 bouts have been run off.

There will be three consecutive nights of fighting—and from Wednesday's finals the city title winners will emerge. These eight boys—one in each weight division—will represent Chicago in the Tournament of Champions Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week in the Stadium. There they will be called upon to meet the challenge of the strongest amateur boxers of 23 states who will converge upon Chicago from 43 centers in quest of the greatest prize amateur boxing has to offer.

Same Champions Return.

Among the boys who will attempt to smash their way thru the Coliseum tournament there are many who already have caught the spirit of Golden Gloves competition. From pest experience they know its triumphs and disappointments. These are the boys who went a long way over the road to victory in previous years. Some of them fell just short of success. Three of them—Flyweight Harold Dade, Bantamweight Ray Brown, and Light Heavyweight Hezzie Williams—went all the way to a championship.

These boys are coming back, toughened and experienced, with increased hitting power, better timing and tighter defensive ability. They'll be mighty dangerous to any foe they face whether it's in the struggle for city titles or in the Tournament of Champions.

Joe Manjarrez, for instance, went to the 135 pound city finals last year only to find his way blocked by one of the best fighters of any weight—Eddie O'Connell. This time Joe is ready to put all he's learned into a new quest for a championship.

Savoy Giant Tries Again.

Henry Leslie, a heavyweight from the Jewish People's institute, also reached last year's finals, where he had the hard luck to meet Cornelius Young. Against the masterly boxing of his seasoned rival, Leslie had no chance, but he's had an additional year's experience since then and expects to give another excellent account of himself.

Another heavyweight veteran of last year's tournament who will try again is Luke Baylock, gigantic Savoy A. C. fighter who has overawed many an opponent by his height and reach. He is 6 feet 5 inches tall and weighs over 200 pounds.

Golden Gloves bouts always carry an element of uncertainty. Every so

LOUIS 'DEFENDS' TITLE TONIGHT—AGAINST DORAZIO

Expect 15,000 to See Bout in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 16 (AP).—Altho the home town boy's chances of making good are about as bright as an old shoe, Philadelphia fans are out to set a new local indoor record at Joe Louis' heavyweight title defense against Gus Dorazio tomorrow night.

Promoter Herman Taylor discovered today the advance sale was well over $30,000, and, with business still brisk, visioned a possible sellout in Convention hall for Philadelphia's first heavyweight championship bout since Gene Tunney beat Jack Dempsey in the rain 15 years ago.

Predict Crowd of 15,000.

He estimated more than 15,000 would turn out to see the Bomber put his title on the line for the 14th time against a squat 190 pounder and that the gate would hit $50,000. This would eclipse the old high Steve Hamas and Tommy Loughran set when they fought in Convention hall before some 14,000 in the early '30s.

As for the fight itself, even Dorazio's best friends won't tell him. A close checkup revealed today that one bet actually has been made on the fight, but this was only for $1.50 and was based on what color trunks Louis would wear. Only one person was giving Gus a chance,—and that was Gus himself.

It may take several minutes for Louis to study Dorazio's half crouching, weaving, bobbing style, but once he gets the idea, the roof probably will fall in on Gus almost immediately. That should be inside of four rounds, many predict.

Dorazio Has Confidence.

Louis agrees with this theory, but Dorazio scoffs at any possibility that he may lose. He has all the confidence Tony Galento and Red Burman carried into the ring against the champion and has an added incentive in the fact a state legislative investigation has been threatened over a charge by a state senator that this match is between opponents of unequal ability. He is going to look for the senator's seat at the ringside tomorrow, he says, and will knock Louis right into the legislator's lap.

This outing is the third in the champion's fight-a-month campaign which is making heavyweight history this winter. He stopped Al McCoy in Boston in December, knocked out Burman in New York less than three weeks ago, and goes from here to Detroit to meet Abraham Simon next month.

Jockey, Hurt in Hialeah Fall, Slightly Improved

Miami, Fla., Feb. 16 (AP).—Joseph Giangaspro, jockey who was injured in a spill at Hialeah Park Friday, was reported slightly improved today. Hospital attendants said the youth, who suffered severe head injuries, still was considered in a critical condition.

Torger Tokle Wins in Bear Mountain Ski Meet

Bear Mountain, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP).—Torger Tokle, the 21 year old Norwegian star, added another ski jumping victory to his string today with a 155 foot leap in an invitational meet. His older brother, Kyrre, won the class B competition with a jump of 131 feet.

Only a giant must need to stoop
To enter an average door.
A midget can stand stiff and erect—
He's very much nearer the floor.
And this you will find is true of the kind
Of persons who people the earth.
The smallest of character never unbend;
The biggest one's bow proves his worth. —Helen LaMonte.

WISCONSIN SEEKS 8TH VICTORY IN A ROW TONIGHT

Meets Purdue Five While Indiana Plays Ohio.

Games Tonight

Iowa at Illinois.
Minnesota at Northwestern.
Wisconsin at Purdue.
Michigan at Chicago.
Indiana at Ohio State.
Loyola at Duquesne.
Ripon at Beloit.
Monmouth at Grinnell.
Oklahoma at Iowa State.
St. Ambrose at Loras.
Simpson at Parsons.
Knox at Augustana.
Millikin at Indiana Central.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Western conference basketball race enlists each of the 10 teams tonight in a full schedule matching last Saturday's. Wisconsin, with seven straight victories, and Indiana, with six triumphs which place it only half a game behind the Badgers, meet strong opposition.

Wisconsin plays Purdue, the defending champion, in Lafayette, while Indiana will seek to overcome a 10 year jinx on Ohio State's floor. Northwestern, which has won only two of seven conference games, engages Minnesota in Evanston High school, Michigan plays at Chicago, and Iowa is at Illinois.

Indiana has not won at Ohio State since 1930, when its present coach, Branch McCracken, played on the Hoosier team which defeated the Buckeyes, 26 to 22. Earlier this season, Indiana defeated Ohio State in Bloomington, 45 to 25, but the Buckeyes showed power Saturday night in overwhelming Purdue, 57 to 38. One of Indiana's problems will be to stop Dick Fisher of Ohio State, who leads the Big Ten in scoring with 108 points, 19 of which he made against Purdue.

Igney May Play Tonight.

Wisconsin whipped Purdue in overtime earlier in the season in Madison. Coach Ward Lambert of the Boilermakers is hopeful that Capt. Bob Igney, who was out of the Ohio State game, will be able to play.

Here are the remaining games for Wisconsin and Indiana:

Saturday—Indiana at Iowa; Chicago at Wisconsin.
Feb. 24—Wisconsin at Indiana.
March 1—Purdue at Indiana; Minnesota at Wisconsin.
March 3—Indiana at Chicago.

Purdue has a better chance than either Ohio State or Minnesota to become a miracle team, for the Boilermakers meet both Wisconsin [tonight] and Indiana. The Buckeyes face Indiana tonight and Minnesota completes the Badgers' season March 1.

Wisconsin and Indiana each will play Chicago in the next two weeks and neither anticipates any trouble from the Maroons, who lost their seventh consecutive game Saturday night to Northwestern. Indiana's other game is at Iowa Saturday.

An Edge for Indiana.

Indiana and Wisconsin also have two home games each. The Hoosiers are on the road for three games, but since one is with Chicago, Indiana actually has an advantage over Wisconsin, for the Badgers play on Indiana's court.

If Purdue is to win or share the championship it is defending it must win tonight from Wisconsin.

Ohio State has not lost a conference game at home this year. Neither has Purdue, and the Badgers needed five minutes overtime to win from Purdue in Madison.

Michigan Scores Upset.

Illinois' defeat by Wisconsin was not surprising for the Illini have received a series of blows by ineligibility and injury. Michigan scored a mild upset Saturday by beating Iowa on its own court. Tonight Illinois and Iowa fight in Champaign for a chance to get into the first division. Michigan expects to pick up its third victory of the season in the Maroons' fieldhouse.

Northwestern has an overtime defeat by Wisconsin to prove that it always is dangerous. Minnesota qualifies as the in-and-out quintet of the season. The Gophers beat Wisconsin but two of their defeats were administered by Iowa and Michigan.

SMILIN' JACK—JUST A JOY RIDE

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—LOST PHIZ IS BAD BIZ

Mamakos to Set the Pace in Bout with Zale

BY FRANK MASTRO.

This is a story of how Steve Mamakos expects to relieve Tony Zale of his middleweight championship in their 15 round bout in the Chicago Stadium Friday.

"My plan is to walk in and punch away with both hands," Mamakos said before his workout in Trafton's gymnasium yesterday. "I intend to take the lead and hold it thruout the fight. In this way Zale never will have a chance to get set, and I expect to win the decision."

Matt Twomey, manager of Mamakos, strengthened Mamakos' prediction by declaring the Washington, D. C., challenger never has lost a rematch.

First Long Bout for Steve.

Mamakos, who lost a split decision to Zale in a previous fight on Jan. 10, beat Milt Aron, Sammy Luftspring, and Georgie Abrams in rematches. Steve is more confident of dethroning Zale than he was of defeating Aron in the Coliseum last Nov. 25.

Mamakos never has gone 15 rounds before, but he points out that Zale never has gone this distance either.

Mamakos also said he would ask the Illinois boxing commission to refrain from having Frank McAdams referee the rematch. He believes McAdams was unfair when he officiated his first encounter with the champion. McAdams voted for Zale, 55 to 45. He was backed up in this decision by Judge William O'Connell, who scored 54 to 46 for Zale.

He'll Fight at 156.

Mamakos will box again today and tomorrow. However, he will do only light exercises Wednesday. He will take a complete rest Thursday. He was at 157 pounds yesterday, one more than he intends to carry Friday.

The first thing Steve did on his arrival was to view the championship belt which Promoter Bill Rand will award the winner.

Before coming to Chicago, the soldier-fighter worked out with Bob Mathias at Fort Meade, Maryland. Both are members of the 121st engineers, District of Columbia National Guard.

Hostak Arrives Today.

Col. John W. Oehman, commander of the regiment, cleared the way for the Zale encounter thru the efforts of Matt Twomey. Twomey, manager of the 22 year old challenger, is warrant officer and physical director of the 121st engineers.

Al Hostak, from whom Zale won the title last July 19, will reach the loop this morning for a 10 round supporting match against George Burnette of Detroit. Altus Allen, 1939 International Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, will continue training today for an additional match of 10 rounds against Gunnar Barlund. Howard Williams, Detroit heavyweight, is paired with Henry Wacker in a six round opener.

GOLDEN GLOVERS OPEN CITY TITLE FIGHTS TONIGHT

often some unheralded fighter will land a punch that will put a veteran on the canvas. A number of dangerously hard hitters have come up this season from the novice tournaments which were conducted in the north and south sections of the city. Tho these boys are lacking in experience, some of them may make it tough for their seasoned opponents.

Engineer in Debut.

Ivo Buddeke, a freshman in Armour College of Engineering at Illinois Tech, is one of the likely looking lads who has just graduated into the open division. He marched thru the north side novice tournament last week in Loyola gymnasium in impressive style. Fighting in the light heavyweight class, he stopped his first opponent in the first round. His second adversary got as far as the second round before Ivo put him away. In his third engagement, he was called upon to show good judgment and poise in outpointing Edward Gertz of the C. Y. O.

This is Buddeke's first venture into tournament competition. He had no formal instruction until the Illinois Tech boxing coach, Bernard Weissman, spotted him during a gymnasium session and decided he had talent. He uses his long reach to advantage in scoring with a stiff left jab.

Fighting in the out of town centers will come to a conclusion this week with the completion of the array of 43 invading squads. Finals will be held tonight in eight centers—South Bend, Ind.; Peoria, Ill.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Minneapolis, Minn.

FLY CASTERS TO HAVE INNINGS IN TRIBUNE TOURNEY

Entry List Will Close at Midnight Tomorrow.

BY BOB BECKER.

Fishermen who have left the army of bait casters and joined the ever-growing ranks of the fly casters will have a chance to use their buggywhip rods during THE TRIBUNE casting tournament which opens Saturday at the International Sportsmen's show in the International amphitheater. Casting events are scheduled every day of the nine day show.

Dry fly specialists will have to wait until the final day of the tournament, March 2, to take part in this event, but bass bug casters will compete Sunday. Both these events drew large entries last year in THE TRIBUNE tournament, and are expected to attract even more casters this year. Bass bug casting is fast becoming a favorite fly event for anglers who do this type of fishing in the central states.

Entries Close Tomorrow.

Entries already received indicate that a number of anglers will compete only in the fly events. Jim Newman, 1414 Thorndale avenue, one of the first entrants, signed up only for the bass bug and the dry fly.

The entry blank which appears on this page will be printed tomorrow for the last time, and all entries must be postmarked not later than midnight tomorrow. Early entries indicate that the bait casting events for nonclub members will draw the largest number of contestants. These include the Skish event, junior event, and women's competition. All entrants will receive by return mail the complete schedule of events, rules, and instructions for admittance to the amphitheater.

Blowgun Expert to Appear.

One of the new attractions on the sportsmen's show program is Walt Wilhelm, blowgun expert. The blowgun, a tubular weapon thru which darts are propelled, has been used for hundreds of years by the Cherokee Indians of the Great Smoky mountains and various other tribes in North and South America.

Various organizations and localities will have special days on which they will be honored at the show. The schedule:

Feb. 22, American Legion day; Feb. 23, Izaak Walton league and Conservation day; Feb. 24, Boy Scout day; Feb. 25, Trailer day; Feb. 26, Wisconsin day; Feb. 27, Illinois day; Feb. 28, Minnesota day; March 1, Canada day; March 2, Chicago and Championship day.

Sparta Whips Slovaks, 8-0, in Cup Drill

BY OFFSIDE.

The Sparta soccer team, which will represent Illinois in the western semi-finals for the National cup against Gallatin, Pa., next month, defeated the Slovaks of the International league, 8 to 0, yesterday in the Sparta stadium.

Playing without two of its regulars, Art Garcia and Billy Fraser, Sparta rushed into an early lead on goals by Jimmy MacDermott and Frank Trimmel in the first five minutes of play. The Slovaks missed their star center forward, Freddy Vagosky, who has joined the army, and played loosely as their forwards floundered thru the snow. Pete Matevich was the only man who tested the Sparta goal keeper. He got away one hard drive.

Sparta increased its lead to five goals at the half, MacDermott scoring twice and Trimmel once. MacDermott, who made four of the eight goals, opened the second period by tipping one past Goalie Joe Dick from three yards out in the fourth minute of play. Goals by Jimmy Wolf and Trimmel completed the scoring.

Sparta, with the cup match before it, will continue playing every week until the Gallatin game, which has been scheduled for Chicago.

The Sparta Seconds and Slovak Reserves played to a scoreless tie in the opening game. Lineup:

HOLDOUTS? YOU HAVEN'T HEARD ANYTHING YET!

New York, Feb. 16 (AP).—Outside of a baseball club getting downright aggravated and holding out against the players, the most surprising thing that could happen in the holdout situation would be for a player actually to stay out an entire season because his pay demands weren't met.

Of the hundreds of holdouts down thru the years, only four have made good their threat not to report. Which indicates the players know they are the ones hanging on the end of the rope eight stories in the air and threatening to drop unless their terms are met. If they let go it won't be the club that bounces off the sidewalk.

Mike Donlin, Dickey Kerr, Johnny Kling, and Frank Baker were the fellows with the iron wills, or the iron won'ts.

So Johnny Kling Stayed Home.

Kling passed up the 1909 season when his terms weren't met by the Cubs, and Baker spent the 1915 season with Upland, Pa., when his salary ideas didn't coincide with those of the Athletics. Kerr, a loyalist during those black days of the White Sox in 1919, demanded $5,000 for 1921, and stayed out for the year when it was refused.

Donlin, who received $6,500 in 1905, asked $9,000 in 1906 and the Giants declined to go above $7,500. That was adult money in those days; the great Christy Mathewson was drawing only $8,500. Donlin failed to report, and went on a vaudeville tour with his wife.

Edd Knew What He Wanted.

Edd Roush, one of baseball's greatest center fielders, never stayed away for a full season, but never was there a fellow quite like Roush in making his employers' vigil for the mailman a tedious one. Roush was a perennial holdout and reached an alltime high in 1922 when he spent most of the season on his Indiana farm. But he came to terms in time to play 49 games. Trading his plow for a baseball bat and without benefit of training, Roush hit .351, his second best mark in the majors.

Roush always was trying to better himself in a financial way. Evansville sold Edd to the White Sox in July of 1913, but he was sent to Lincoln, Neb., after playing in nine games. He jumped to the Federal league the next season, playing with Indianapolis, then transferred to Newark in the same league the next season. Then he came to the National league. His career ended on a monetary note, too. Edd took one look at his 1932 Cincinnati contract and right then and there quit baseball, leaving it, as he said, to the younger fellows.

A Down on the Farm Episode.

There was the classic story of one Benny Meyer, too. Benny was a so-so player with Brooklyn. He had some property near St. Louis; nothing much, but enough to give him an idea. He had some fancy letterheads printed indicating he was operating a thriving stock farm, and on this stationery he wrote Charles Ebbets to the effect that he, Meyer, was thru with baseball as his farm was more important.

Meyer was considerably dumfounded to receive a wire from Ebbets saying the Brooklyn boss was en route to the farm to talk things over. Undaunted, Meyer hustled around among his neighbors, borrowing a bull here, a cow there, and a pig somewhere else. Overnight he had a well-stocked acreage, and Ebbets was duly impressed. Benny got the best contract he ever had.

MATHEWS RIDES MOTORCYCLE TO 78.09 MILE MARK

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 16 (AP).—Billy Mathews of Hamilton, Ont., set a new record of 78.09 miles an hour today to win the American Motorcycle association's 200 mile national championship road race. Babe Tancrede of Woonsocket, R. I., last year's winner, was second, Hugh McCall of Salisbury, N. Y., was third and Bernard Campanale of Providence, R. I., was fourth.

Mathews, riding an English made machine, did the 63 laps around the 3.2 mile course in 2 hours, 33 minutes and 44.81 seconds to finish more than a lap in front of Tancrede. His record displaced the 77.3 miles an hour mark set by Campanale in 1939.

Saari's jump broke the 162 foot mark set in 1940 by Roy Bietila of Ishpeming. Bietila equaled the 164 foot jump in an unofficial leap today. State championships were won by Bietila in class A, Elmer Saari and Melvin Holem, tied for first in class B, and Gordon Robare in class C.

CROWELL WINS IN GLEN VIEW SHOOT AFTER FOUR TIE

It took four shootoffs to decide the three way tie in the weekly singles trapshoot event yesterday at the Glen View traps. The eventual winner was L. A. Crowell, who previously had tied Glen Smith and S. S. Gorham Jr. The doubles event was won by John Searle with 45 after a shoot-off with Smith, Crowell, and L. S. Gordon.

The protection shoot was won by H. M. Harper and Fred McNally, who had a combined score of 92. Fred Gurley won the skeet shoot with a 48 and the women's event was won by Mrs. L. S. Gorham Jr. with a 46.

Rice's 2 Miles Isn't World's Best, After All

New York, Feb. 16 (AP).—Blame it on the war and the resulting confusion in international sports, but Greg Rice's two mile run in 8 minutes 53.4 seconds in Madison Square Garden last night fell a fifth of a second short of being the fastest ever run.

Officials thought it was the fastest, since Rice's former indoor mark was 8:56.2 and the record book lists the 8:56 by Miklos Szabo of Hungary as best outdoors. But in September, 1939, Taisto Maki of Finland ran the distance in 8:53.2 Because the war broke out soon after and there has been no record sanctioning meeting of the international federation since then, Szabo's time remains the recognized mark.

However, there is no arguing Rice's supremacy in distance running. Forced to make all of his own pace last night, he still was able to run the first mile in 4:27.8, and then slam thru a 60.1 second last quarter that was faster than the mile finish.

The chesty Hoosier whipped Mel Trutt of Des Moines, Ia., by at least 40 yards.

LEAHY LEAVES FOR HOME WITH IRISH CONTRACT

Kline, Cerney Probably Will Retain Jobs.

Notre Dame, Ind., Feb. 16 [Special].—Frank Leahy left for Boston tonight with a long term contract as Notre Dame athletic director and football coach in his pocket. The 32 year old successor to Elmer Layden, who resigned two weeks ago to accept the National Football league commissionership, spent most of his day in the company of the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C. S. C., chairman of the faculty board in control of athletics and vice president of the university.

Father Cavanaugh stated that Clarence [Jake] Kline, who has been freshman football coach, will remain as varsity baseball coach and professor of mathematics. Kline probably will continue as a member of the football staff as freshman or B team coach. It was rumored also that Bill Cerney B team coach, may be retained. Cerney did much of the scouting during Layden's régime.

Visits Old Friends.

Leahy spent today renewing old campus acquaintances, visiting new campus buildings, and discussing immediate problems with Father Cavanaugh.

After attending Father Cavanaugh's mass, he joined Bob Elson, sports announcer of W-G-N, The Chicago Tribune station, and recorded an interview, which will be heard at 6:15 tomorrow night. Returning to the campus, he visited the athletic association offices, and the Rockne Memorial fieldhouse. Tommy Mills, who gave Leahy his first coaching job in 1931 when Mills was head coach at Georgetown university, is now director of the fieldhouse.

Before boarding an evening train to Boston, Leahy expressed his regret at having been unable to address the student body during his 24 hour visit for the signing of his contract.

Boosts Notre Dame Students.

"I just want the boys to know I have not forgotten them," he said. "The Notre Dame student body is recognized from coast to coast as having the finest spirit in the land. I have some definite things to say to the students, but I want to put a little more thought on my first talk to them."

He discussed next autumn's prospects with Paul Lillis, captain and right tackle of the 1941 team, and he said, "Everything looks rosy. I am anxious to start spring drills March 10, weather permitting."

The new Irish athletic chief, regular right tackle with the 1929 national champions, had not visited the campus since 1937 when he and his wife stopped here on a motor trip.

FIELD'S PROFITS IN YEAR REACH PEAK SINCE 1929

Net Earnings Equal $2.47 a Share.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

With each division of the business operating at a profit, earnings of Marshall Field & Co. in 1940 reached the highest level since 1929, Frederick D. Corley, president, reported yesterday to shareholders.

Frederick D. Corley.

The 1940 net profit was $5,692,981, equal to $2.47 a share on the common stock after provision for preferred stock dividends. The preceding year's net profit was $4,636,558, equal to $1.92 a share. Earnings in 1929 totaled $9,219,000.

Corley also announced that the interest rate on the company's funded debt had been reduced as a result of an agreement reached with the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. Under this agreement the rate on $10,000,000 of first mortgage bonds, maturing serially from 1942 to 1945, was cut from 4 to 3 per cent.

Rate Advance Avoided.

The rate on additional $4,000,000 of serial bonds, on which maturities begin in 1951, will remain at 3 per cent thruout the life of the issue. Originally the rate on the latter bonds was fixed at 3 per cent and was scheduled to advance to 4 per cent, beginning Nov. 1, 1941.

The agreement made with the insurance company, Corley said, will mean a saving of $100,000 to $140,000 a year for the company.

A larger volume of business was handled by each division of the company in 1940, the report showed. Merchandise sales and rental income for the year totaled $92,773,220 compared with $86,773,921, an increase of 6.9 per cent.

Profits by Divisions.

The comparative operating profits for each division [before interest and federal taxes] were as follows:

	1940.	1939.	Increase.
Retail	$6,789,126	$5,320,933	$1,468,193
Manufactur.	1,199,559	725,319	474,501
Real estate	427,385	385,806	41,579

Corley said the company pursued a nonspeculative policy in making forward commitments for goods. Both inventories and forward commitments were moderately higher at the end of 1940 than a year earlier. This resulted from the increased volume of business and a slowing down in the rate of deliveries on certain types of goods.

Despite the war, Corley said, the company's British merchandise sources were fairly well maintained and its shipping losses on such merchandise were small. Greater difficulty was encountered, however, in obtaining other foreign merchandise. As a result of the world situation, the company expected to develop new merchandise sources in Central and South American countries.

The company's real estate division, Corley said, experienced the best year in its history. The Merchandise Mart, the most important operation, was nearly 89 per cent rented at the year end as compared with 82 per cent a year earlier. The mart has 773 tenants and an estimated working population of 27,000 persons. The Annex Office building, which houses the men's store, is 92 per cent occupied, Corley said.

Provisions for all taxes in 1940 totaled $6,007,964, an amount exceeding the company's profit. Federal income taxes increased $730,000, or nearly 77 per cent, despite the fact that the company believed it had no liability under the excess profits tax.

Corley said the company was considering plans for an employés pension system "within the company's means." Pensions have heretofore been paid informally to a number of employés out of current operating earnings.

View on Future Trade.

Corley's comments on the prospects for 1941 carried a note of caution.

"A sudden termination of European hostilities, or domestic events of major economic importance not subject to advance appraisal, may render any forecast worthless," he said. "With this reservation, it nevertheless appears to us that the outlook for increased volume of business in consumers' goods lines is comparatively bright for 1941. At the same time we are faced with increasing costs of doing business, and any forecast that ignored the necessity of obtaining greater sales volume in order to earn an equivalent net profit would be lacking in realism."

INVESTORS' GUIDE

LANDLORD'S EXPENSES.

I own a three flat building. I rent out two flats and live in the third. Last spring I remodeled the flats at a cost of $500 each. Can I deduct in my income tax return the cost of alterations, depreciation, heat, wages of the janitor, and fire insurance premiums?—W. T. S.

Answer: You are permitted to deduct that portion of the expenses of operating the building which is incurred in maintaining the rented apartments, but you cannot deduct the expenses of your own apartment. You are allowed, therefore, two-thirds of the fire insurance premiums, of janitor's wages, of depreciation, of coal, and decorating costs as deductions from the gross rental receipts. Taxes and interest paid on any mortgage on the property are deductible.

Depreciation each year is computed on the basis that a brick building has an expected life of 50 years and a frame building 25 to 30 years. Thus, on a brick building the annual depreciation rate is 2 per cent over the 50 year period.

The cost of remodeling the apartments is not deductible because it is considered a capital expenditure which enhances the value of the property. This cost should be added to the cost of the property in computing your depreciation allowance.

The internal revenue code holds the following incidental repairs or maintenance costs as deductible from rental receipts: Painting, mending leaks, plastering, or fixing gutters. Repairs which add to the value of the building, or prolong its life, are not deductible and include such expenses as building a new roof or installing steam heat facilities.

PENSION FUNDS.

Can teachers and other municipal employés deduct from their income amounts subtracted from their salaries for pension funds? Are pensions paid to retired teachers and other such employés considered taxable income?—A. S.

Answer: Contributions made by an employé, whether government or otherwise, to a pension fund are not deductible from his gross income because he is in the same position as a person buying an annuity contract. When he retires and receives a pension from the fund, a portion of his annual receipts equal to 3 per cent of his net contribution to the fund is considered taxable interest. The remainder of each annual payment is treated as a return of his original investment in the fund and is not taxable. When an amount equal to his net contribution to the fund has been repaid in the form of nontaxable payments, all further payments from the fund are considered entirely taxable income. In the case of pensions paid from joint contributions of employé and employer, any part of the pension contributed by the employer is fully taxable, and the part contributed by the employé is treated as an annuity.

LUXURY STORES GAIN IN NUMBER THRU ILLINOIS

Retail Sales Near 3 Billions in 1939.

Retail establishments dealing in "luxury" merchandise such as florists, eating and drinking places, filling stations, and ice and fuel oil dealers have sprung up in large numbers thruout Illinois in the last 10 years, but most other kinds of stores have decreased, a department of commerce survey of the state's retail trade disclosed yesterday.

The survey is one of a series of business reports presenting basic facts as to stores, sales, proprietors, employés, pay rolls and inventories of retailers by kinds of business, for counties and incorporated places of more than 2,500 population.

Sales Near 3 Billions.

"Retail sales totaled $2,857,646,000 in 1939," the report said, "an increase of 33 per cent over 1935. The total is 22 per cent under the dollar volume reached in the state in 1929 when the general level of consumer goods prices was substantially higher. The gain in population over this 10 year period was 266,587, or 3.5 per cent."

At the end of 1939 there were 109,132 stores in the state, 17 per cent more than in 1929. Part time employés of the stores increased 63 per cent, but the number of full time employés was 9 per cent lower. Pay rolls were 21 per cent lower. A comparison of Illinois totals for the three census years follows, [000 omitted in sales and pay roll columns]:

	Stores.	Sales.	Employés.	Pay Roll.
1929..	93,432	$3,658,560	331,078	$438,553
1935..	95,033	2,152,432	268,888	259,578
1939..	109,132	2,857,646	332,003	339,072

Main Changes Since 1935.

Principal changes since 1935 and 1929 have been as follows:

1. Food stores increased 9 per cent in number, but their sales have declined 29 per cent since 1929. Combination grocery stores and meat markets increased 69 per cent in number and 32 per cent in sales. In Chicago sales of combination stores rose 40 per cent since 1929.

2. Number of "general stores" declined 69 per cent.

3. ariety stores increased 34 per cent in number since 1935, but sales were 6 per cent below 1929.

4. Department stores, with some decrease in number, were within 2 per cent of their sales in 1929. Chicago, with 58 of the 244 department stores of the state, accounted for $406,325,000, or 81 per cent of the sales of this kind of business.

5. The apparel group, with a 17 per cent increase in the number of stores, was 32 per cent under dollar volume of 1929 when the general level of apparel prices was much higher.

6. Sales of the furniture-household-radio group increased 48 per cent from 1939, but were 48 per cent below 1929. More than one-third of the 2,907 stores in this group are in Chicago and their sales amounted to 54 per cent of the sales volume in the state for this kind of business.

7. Filling stations increased from 6,008 in 1929 to 12,097 in 1939. Sales increased from $110,482,000 to $158,156,000.

8. Automobile dealers and auto supply stores increased 29 per cent in number. Sales of new cars were 23 per cent below 1929 in dollar volume.

9. Lumber-building group sales increased 87 per cent since 1935, but were 42 per cent below dollar volume of 1929. The number of hardware stores increased, but sales were below predepression levels.

10. Drug stores increased slightly in number but cigar stores and stands decreased 56 per cent in number and 60 per cent in sales. News dealers' sales decreased 59 per cent.

11. Fuel, ice, and fuel oil dealers increased substantially in numbers. Jewelry store sales were 112 per cent higher than in 1935 and 43 per cent below dollar volume reached in 1929.

Chicago Has 47,832 Stores.

Chicago had 47,832 stores in operation at the end of 1939. Sales during the year totaled $1,514,829,000. The stores employed 184,849 at salaries that aggregated $204,193,000. Active proprietors of unincorporated businesses in the city totaled 41,783.

Cook county had 55,696 stores employing 207,802 whose pay rolls aggregated $230,242,000. Sales of stores in Cook county in 1939 amounted to $1,731,986,000. There were 48,870 active proprietors of unincorporated businesses in the county.

Martin to Retire as Head of St. Louis Reserve Bank

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 16 (AP).—William Martin, chairman of the board of the federal reserve bank here since it was organized in 1914, said today he planned to retire, probably at the end of this month.

PREDICTS LARGE PLANE OUTPUT IN FEW MONTHS

Jouett Says Fighter Types Rank High.

New York, Feb. 16 (AP).—Production of military airplanes will reach 1,500 monthly by midyear, Col. John H. Jouett, president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, said today. He declared that the production curve would rise at a steady accelerating pace.

Col. J. H. Jouett.

All leading American combat plane types now being delivered to the army and navy "were provided with armor, leak proof fuel tanks, and fire power unsurpassed by planes operating in the European war theater," he disclosed.

"The aircraft manufacturers have been given the biggest job ever handed an industry," he said. "This job is to build 37,000 military airplanes for the United States and Britain. Last fall a production goal of 1,000 military planes in January, 1941, was set by government officials.

"Does the Impossible."

"This figure was set despite the industry's sincere belief that that goal was far too optimistic considering available facilities. Last December a high government official estimated that the industry would fail to meet its goal by 30 per cent.

"But it gives me great satisfaction to announce that the aircraft industry has done the impossible asked of it. Plane production in November was around 700; in December, 800; in January, 1941, over 1,000."

Col. Jouett said the industry had doubled its productive floor space and by midyear would have quadrupled it.

More Planes Wanted.

He said that in addition to the present 37,000 plane program, negotiations were approaching completion which would call for American manufacturers to build 11,000 to 15,000 more planes for the United States air forces and an additional 12,000 for the British.

Urging the United States to take the lead in developing airplane systems linking North, South, and Central America, he predicted that the close of the war would usher in the greatest era of aviation with "merchant fleets of the air operating under all flags over every ocean and all lands."

FLY NOW, PAY LATER THRU INSTALMENTS IS AIR LINES' NEW OFFER

Air travel on a monthly instalment paying plan will be offered March 1 by 17 leading air lines, the Air Traffic Conference of America announced yesterday.

The plan, similar to one used for nearly a year by many railroads, applies to fares of $50 or more. No collateral or down payment is required. The cost is spread over several months.

"The air lines in adopting this plan are convinced it will enable them to tap an enormous new market," the announcement said.

MACHINE TOOL PRICE CEILING SET UP BY U. S.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16 [Special].—The first of a series of price schedules set up to prevent profiteering in second hand machine tools was announced today by Leon Henderson, head of the division of price stabilization of the national defense advisory commission.

Henderson explained that his action initiated a program which would be extended wherever necessary to assert the full force of the federal government, including the power of commandeering and requisitioning, to protect the public interest against persons seeking to profit exorbitantly on defense requirements.

Carry Your Own Checkbook

Carry your own checkbook — (or keep it at your home or office). Then you can write checks — to pay the landlord, the grocer, the gas company, or anyone. You can send money anywhere—in town, out of town—anytime. Just sit down and write a check.

Any amount starts a Checking Account

Any amount starts a regular personal checking account with the Industrial National Bank. You are the one to determine how much you want to keep on deposit—enough to cover checks you propose to draw, or an over plus, or extra balance if you choose.

We invite your Account

We invite your personal checking account (accounts may be subject to more than one authorized signature — husband and wife, for example). You may have a choice of attractive checkbooks with plenty of room on the "Stubs" to keep tab of where your money comes from and where it goes. A statement of your account is rendered every month, and your "Paid" checks are returned with your statement—canceled checks are a recognized receipt to prove that you have paid what you have paid.

The cost of having a checking account at the Industrial National Bank may be relatively small, or there may be no cost at all. We make liberal allowances based on the average balance maintained.

"Do you mind if I just rest?"

Certainly not! Sit down and catch your breath. Anything for a good customer. And all women are good customers. New York department stores know that. They sell chiefly to women; and The New York Times helps them greatly to do so!

- ITEM: The last four years have seen The Times climb from 3rd to 1st place in combined linage of Manhattan's 16 leading department stores.
- ITEM: The Times share of these stores' advertising has grown each year.
- ITEM: In 1940, The Times published 6,037,777 lines of department store advertising — 98,193 more lines than in 1939, the previous high year.

National advertisers (who also sell chiefly to women) can profit by watching where department store advertising increasingly goes. These facts about The Times should help you plan your campaigns in the New York market.
